

EXPERTS SAY PISTOL BESIDE BODY DID NOT KILL WOMAN

Chief Gerk Sends Report to De Soto, Mo., Coroner, That Weapon Is Too Rusty to Be Fired.

SUGGESTS IT WAS USED AS A CLUB

Sol Hohenthal in Whose Rooms Pearl Potoskey Was Slain, Gives Bond, After Arrest at Funeral.

The automatic pistol which lay beside the body of Pearl Potoskey, St. Louis beauty shop owner, when she was found dead Sunday in the bachelor apartment of Sol Hohenthal, at De Soto, Mo., has not been fired in a long time, could not be fired in its present condition, and obviously is not the weapon with which the young woman was shot, Chief of Police Gerk said today in a written report to Coroner Gibson at De Soto.

The pistol found beside the body had been sent to St. Louis by Coroner Gibson with the request that it be examined by firearms experts. It will be returned with the report before the inquest is resumed tomorrow.

Besides the pistol, the investigators found a cartridge shell near the young woman's body and a bullet which had passed through her head in another part of the room. The shell and bullet were of .32 caliber.

There was no cartridge or shell in the pistol and police said the bullet which killed Miss Potoskey was killed could have been fired from the shell found on the floor.

Experts' Report.

In his report, Chief Gerk said that the pistol had been examined by Thomas Lewis, the department's expert, and Calvin Goddard, a New York expert, that photographs of the inside of the barrel showed that the pistol would not be fired, that the magazine chamber was clogged with lint and dust which would have been ejected by the discharge of a cartridge.

"We did not test the gun for the reason that it could not be fired," the chief wrote. "In fact, the gun cannot be discharged. The magazine will not operate simply because of a state of disuse. Because of the disuse it was in, the pistol in the parts which operate the gun."

Chief Gerk also reported that a strand of fine, blonde hair that was caught in the sight of the gun, and small fragments of heated hair, of similar texture, in the barrel, offering the theory that the pistol may have been used as a club inflicting the two fractures found in Miss Potoskey's skull. He said he would obtain a sample of the young woman's hair and compare it with the strands taken from the pistol.

Second Autopsy Held Up.

Health Commissioner Starkhoff announced shortly before noon today that he would not issue the necessary permit for an autopsy today unless he received a formal request from the Coroner or Prosecuting Attorney of Jefferson County where local physicians had already performed an autopsy.

The young woman's family had arranged privately for a second autopsy here by Dr. Edwin F. Vittori of the former Coroner. At the conclusion of funeral services yesterday afternoon, the grave in St. Peter and Paul Cemetery was not filled. When the mourners and sensation seekers had departed, the coffin was raised and placed in a temporary vault where it remained today.

Relatives said they would await the result of the inquest before deciding whether they would request Jefferson County officials to authorize the private autopsy.

While a crowd of 100 or more stood about the Welch funeral parlor at 2261 South Grand avenue yesterday, and 200 women packed the inside parlor close to the casket, Hohenthal jumped out of an automobile and hustled inside to see the body. He wore a jaunty suit, a pearl fob, a diamond ring and a diamond horseshoe tie pin, a pearl fob, a diamond ring and a diamond horseshoe tie pin, a pearl fob, a diamond ring and a diamond horseshoe tie pin.

"I want to see Pearl," he said earnestly to George Weick, the head of the funeral home.

LEADERSHIP ON VESTRIS LACKING, EXPERTS REPORT

Capt. Jessop and McConekey Say S O S Was Delayed Too Long—British Ask for Transcript.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Declaring that surviving officers of the lost liner Vestris had not been in the proper physical condition to tell of the disaster, Capt. Henry McConekey, British naval adviser to the U. S. Coast Guard, and Capt. J. J. Jessop, American adviser in the hearing, said today that the Federal investigation of the sinking, suggested today that the evidence obtained by the British and the British Board of Trade to assist it in its inquiry.

Capt. McConekey made his suggestion in his report to the commission, for whom a report was prepared by the U. S. Coast Guard. Capt. Jessop's report was a general review of the testimony about the disaster, but offered no indication as to where he thought responsibility rested. He said, however, that while the life-saving appliances of the Vestris were of the approved type and should have been sufficient to cope with any emergency, "these appliances do not appear to have been used to their full advantage," and the organization for using the equipment "was not brought into effect with efficiency."

Offering an explanation for the loss of some of the 110 persons who went down with the ship on Nov. 12 off the Virginia Capes, Capt. McConekey said the reason for the great disparity between the ratio of passengers saved in comparison with the number of crew saved might be found in the loss of the two boats containing women and children on the port side of the vessel and the misunderstanding of the rule "women and children first," which was intended to mean women and children first in their respective boats, not all women and children in the first boats that leave the ship.

McConekey also said, and in this he was supported by Jessop, that an S O S should have been sent by the Vestris at 4 a. m. on Nov. 12, approximately six hours before the distress call was sent.

Capt. Jessop's report arraigned what he termed a lack of leadership on board the sinking vessel, saying there was no sign of organization of any kind in the loading and lowering of lifeboats.

FOUR MISSING AFTER YACHT BURNS OFF FLORIDA COAST

Fifth Member of Crew Rescued; Motor Backfire Cause of Blaze.

COCO BEACH, Fla., Dec. 6.—Four members of the crew are missing and thought to have been lost when the yacht Aero, on the way from Jacksonville to Palm Beach, burned at sea off here tonight, after she had caught fire from the backfire of the motor.

Edward Sattinover, the fifth member of the crew, was picked up by a fish boat at sea off here tonight, after she had caught fire from the backfire of the motor.

Sattinover said he last saw his mates when they jumped overboard for shore nine miles away. They were William Sutton, William Reynolds, John Kox and Lee Roy, all of Jacksonville.

CHURCH ORGANIST WEDS PUPIL WITH WIFE AS WITNESS

West Sayville (L. I.) Woman Says She Resigned Self to Situation Because of His Infatuation for Girl.

HUSBAND ARRESTED ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Mrs. Herbert Leigh-Manuelle, Mother of His Three Children, Helps Pair to Get License.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Herbert J. Leigh-Manuelle, 36 years old, church organist and music teacher, who induced his wife to witness his marriage to a 19-year-old pupil, today was being held without bail in the Suffolk County jail charged with bigamy.

Mrs. Leigh-Manuelle remained at their West-Sayville L. I., home taking care of their three young sons, while Miss Martha Van Wyen, his newest bride, was at the home of her parents in the neighboring village of Sayville.

The Leigh-Manuelles have been married 13 years. Mrs. Leigh-Manuelle explained to police that she became aware last summer that her husband was infatuated with his pupil but when she found herself unable to check this she resigned herself to the situation.

At the request of her husband she called at the Van Wyen home yesterday and asked whether Martha could accompany her to a dentist in New York. The permission was granted. At the station they were joined by Leigh-Manuelle.

The three went to the Municipal Building where a license was taken out and later Leigh-Manuelle and Miss Van Wyen were married by the Marble Collegiate Church with Mrs. Leigh-Manuelle as a witness.

Leigh-Manuelle with his two wives then returned to Sayville where he is organist at St. Ann's Episcopal Church. He refused to discuss the matter.

ST. LOUISANS PAY $480,000 FOR NEW YORK EXCHANGE SEAT

Waldheim-Platt & Co. Obtain Membership for $100,000 Less Than Previous Predecessor.

Waldheim-Platt & Co., St. Louis investment banking firm, purchased a seat on the New York Stock Exchange Nov. 22 for $480,000, it was announced today. This figure is $100,000 less than the purchase price of the last seat on the Exchange bought a few days ago. Millard A. Waldheim, member of the firm, was admitted to the Exchange as an individual, pursuant to the policy of the Exchange of having only individuals as members.

Announcement was made that the sale had been approved by the membership committee of the Exchange. The company will make no change in its policies, it is announced. It was incorporated Oct. 1, 1924, and has recently been reorganized into a partnership to conform with requirements of the New York Stock Exchange. In addition to Waldheim, Edward G. Platt and Oliver B. Henry are partners.

The last sale of an Exchange seat to a St. Louis man occurred several years ago when Oliver Anderson purchased a seat for $250,000.

Waldheim-Platt & Co. also belongs to the St. Louis Stock Exchange and is an associate member of the New York Curb Exchange. Its offices are in the Merchants-Laclede Building.

The seat was purchased from Maurice A. Gilman of the firm of Charles E. Quincy, New York.

KING'S DOG DOWNHEARTED

Terrier Often Tries to Get Into Master's Room.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—One of the most pathetic figures in Buckingham Palace these days is King George's Cairn terrier who has spent most of the time since the King became ill crouching in the corridor leading to the royal apartment.

Only Princess Mary has been able to coax the terrier to take a little food. The dog makes dashes for the King's room when any one enters, but is always captured before reaching an electric door screen which prevents drafts.

Twins Born in Different States.

FALLS CITY, Neb., Nov. 6.—Twin girls were born, one in Kansas and the other in Nebraska, to Mrs. William Schneider of Hiawatha, Kan., yesterday. After the first daughter was born at Hiawatha early in the morning, Mrs. Schneider was brought to a hospital here, where the second daughter was born at noon.

COMEDY SHOWING GOD IN GOLF TOGS STENCH-BOMBED

Audience Flees Under Gas Barrage From Gallery at Frankfurt-am-Main.

By the Associated Press.

FRANKFURT-AM-MAIN, Germany, Dec. 6.—Public objection to representation of God on the stage took a drastic form at the Municipal theater last night when a production of Walter Hasenclever's comedy "Marriages Are Made in Heaven" provoked a bombardment of stench bombs and tear gas grenades. The bombs were hurled by occupants of the galleries and the rest of the audience fled hastily from the theater.

The company stuck it out and finished the play to an empty house. Police ejected several of the disturbers and this caused a free-for-all fight in the street.

The play, in which the deity is represented as wearing golf clothes and knickerbockers, had previously caused a scandal in Berlin, Hamburg and other German cities. The piece ran in Berlin for more than a month without much public protest except by the Evangelical League. The league tried to halt production by legal means on the ground of blasphemy, but an injunction which they sought was not granted.

PNEUMONIA ANTITOXIN PROVES SUCCESS WITH MICE

California U. Researchers Deem It Feasible to Immunize Human Beings With It.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—The development of a pneumonia antitoxin is announced by the University of California. The announcement followed extensive research by workers of the Hooper Foundation for Medical Research at the university.

While working with the foundation staff, it was announced, Dr. E. L. Freeland developed a serum which immunizes mice against comparatively large inoculations of virulent type of pneumococcus culture. University officers said that future application of this serum to human beings in pneumonia cases was entirely feasible.

Twenty-three out of 31 mice, after treatment with the serum, withstood injections of from one one-hundredth to one tenth of a cubic centimeter of the disease-carrying culture. Other mice not treated with the serum invariably developed pneumonia when given one one-hundredth or even one tenth of a cubic centimeter of the culture. The serum, it was said, was not effective against disease other than pneumonia or allments directly akin to it.

CALL MONEY AT 12 PCT. CAUSES STOCK MARKET SLUMP

Highest Rate for Eight Years Results in Declines Ranging From $1 to $22.50.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Prices fell off sharply on the New York Stock Exchange today, when the call money rate was advanced to 12 per cent for the first time in eight years. Prices of a wide assortment of pivotal issues dropped from $1 to $22.50.

Montgomery Ward dropped $1.50 from yesterday's closing price, Rustic $15, Boston Insurance $5.50, Commercial Solvents and A. M. Myers $8, Westinghouse Electric, General Motors, Union Pacific and American Can, sold $4.50 to $6 lower.

Bulls made a vigorous attempt to keep prices soaring in the morning, and succeeded in boosting Wright Aero $13.75, but it lost its gain and $5 more later. A $4 gain in Chrysler was converted into a $4.50 loss.

The total sales were 5,422,200 shares, the largest number in a declining market in history.

Montgomery Ward in the closing sales extended its loss to $22.50; Wright Aero to $10, General Electric to $11 and General Motors to $7.75.

U. S. SEIZES LIQUOR ON THE ILE DE FRANCE

1700 Bottles Found on French Liner After All-Night Search.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Not content with the result of their preliminary search which yielded 700 bottles of liquor aboard the French liner Ile de France soon after the ship landed, customs officers continued their search all night and discovered 1900 additional bottles today.

Members of the Customs Department, Enforcement Bureau, made their first find yesterday. Four of them posed as longshoremen and made four trips aboard the vessel during the night. Early today customs officers found native messengers waiting with telegrams from Ndola. They had come by bicycle and canoe. The Duke immediately decided to push on by forced journey to the railroad.

Later in the day 200 more bottles of liquor were found aboard the ship by customs men, bringing the total seized since the liner docked to 1900 bottles valued by customs officials at $19,000.

BY TECHNICALITY ROBBER GETS ONLY FOUR-MONTH TERM

Raymond Tipton, Cuckoo Gangster, Had Offered to Plead Guilty and Serve a Year.

CAUGHT IN ACT BY POLICEMAN

Court, However, Upholds Defense Contention That He Was Only a Thief, Not a Burglar.

The insistence of two Circuit Judges that Raymond Tipton go to trial for a burglary in which he was caught, rather than that he be allowed to plead guilty and take a workhouse sentence, had the unforeseen effect today of saving the Cuckoo gangster eight months of confinement.

After the charge of first-degree burglary had been taken from its consideration by a legal technicality raised by Tipton's lawyers, a jury in Circuit Judge Hartmann's court today found him guilty of petty larceny and fixed his punishment at four months in the workhouse. Before the trial Tipton had offered to plead guilty and accept a sentence of 12 months.

To sustain the charge of first-degree burglary on which Tipton was indicted the State was put to the necessity of showing that he had invaded a dwelling house where there was a person at the time. In point of fact he was arrested in the act of looting a grocery store at 1201 Grattan street and the State could not show that he invaded the quarters where the proprietor, Nicholas J. Ries, who was sleeping or that he intended to do so.

PRINCE OF WALES TO LEAVE CRUISER AT SUEZ SATURDAY

Will Then Continue by Train to Cairo on Way to Father's Bedside.

By the Associated Press.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 6.—The Prince of Wales will disembark from the cruiser Enterprise at Suez early Saturday morning in accordance with present plans and will be met there by Lord Lloyd, British High Commissioner. Both will travel by special train, arriving at Cairo at 8:30 a. m. Sunday. The Prince will leave at 5:45 p. m. Sunday for Port Said, to join the Enterprise after it has passed through the canal.

VICTORIA FALLS, Rhodesia, Dec. 6.—The Duke of Gloucester, who passed through here en route to Cape Town, received first news of his father's illness on the afternoon of Nov. 30 when he was on the Lupala River in the Belgian Congo. Returning from his day's shooting he found native messengers waiting with telegrams from Ndola. They had come by bicycle and canoe. The Duke immediately decided to push on by forced journey to the railroad.

JUSTICE HOLMES WINS OWN TRAFFIC CASE IN POLICE COURT

U. S. Supreme Justice's Chauffeur Had Been Summoned for Violating Parking Rule.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Associate Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States Supreme Court, who has just celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday, went into Police Court before Judge John P. McMahon here yesterday and won the right to park his automobile in front of his home long enough for him to get in it.

A policeman cited Charles Buck, chauffeur for Justice Holmes, to court for violation of the traffic regulations, by parking between an alley and a no parking sign. He said Holmes had the no parking sign placed there, and a neighbor complained that the Associate Justice should be required to observe it as "justice should apply alike to everyone."

Holmes called the summoning of his chauffeur an "outrage," and resisted the action in court. Judge McMahon, in dismissing the case, said: "It's a funny thing that a man can't park his car in front of his own home until he can get in it."

$20,000 FUND FOR DOWNTOWN LIGHTING SYSTEM CELEBRATION

Ceremony to Be Held in Front of City Hall Next Monday Night.

A fund of $20,000 for decorations and a celebration to be held next Monday night marking the completion of the new downtown lighting system has been collected by merchants in the area.

Decorations are now being strung on the new light standards in front of the city hall, where the celebration will be held. Mayor Miller, Director of Public Utilities Pritchard and Carl F. G. Meyer, representing the Bond Issue Supervisory Committee, will be the principal speakers. An entertainment program is being arranged.

YOUNG WOMAN DISCOVERS NEW WAY OF MAKING STEEL

Minneapolis Metallurgist Reported to Have Sold Invention of Low Grade Ore Process.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 6.—The Minneapolis Journal today says that Miss Cora H. Webster, a young Minneapolis woman, has discovered a steel-making process which has been purchased by the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and which, when put to active use should revive the mining of low-grade iron ore in Minnesota and the world.

When developed by the Bethlehem Corporation it should furnish the answer to the problem on which experts have worked for decades—to utilize low-grade iron ores in manufacture of steel, the Journal says. It adds:

"Steel making would be revolutionized in the new process. Electricity supplants open hearth furnaces in the new scheme of things."

Miss Webster is one of few women who have completed courses in chemical engineering at the University of Minnesota. She is a chemist and metallurgist and was graduated by the university in 1923.

FAVORABLE NEWS IN NIGHT BULLETIN BY FOUR DOCTORS

Localization of Trouble in Lung More Definite, in Keeping With Progress of Illness.

CONDITION OF HEART STILL CHIEF WORRY

Queen Goes for Drive With Princess Mary and Waves Hand to Crowd Waiting Outside Palace.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—"The King's general condition remains the same as that reported in this morning's bulletin," said the 8:20 p. m. announcement of his physicians tonight. "The localization of infection at the base of the right side of the chest is rather more definite, which conforms to the progress of the illness during the last few days."

Four physicians signed the bulletin.

The statement that King George's general condition was slowly improving, made in the official morning bulletin from his physicians, was the most welcome announcement that has come from Buckingham Palace since the sovereign's illness became critical a few days ago. It served to cheer greatly the hearts of his subjects who have been waiting with tense anxiety for some such word that would indicate a turn for the better.

In the morning bulletin, which was signed by Lord Dawson and Sir Stanley Hewitt, it was stated that the King had passed a fair night and that his temperature was lower. The infective process was found to be still severe but becoming more localized and a notation was made that his general condition was slowly improving.

There having been no relapse into the grave conditions that prevailed last Sunday, and the reports of the last two days having been more encouraging, the public tonight was about ready to believe that the King had passed through the worst phase of his illness. This was shown by the smaller number of citizens awaiting news outside the palace, than had been the case on recent evenings.

Too Early for Optimism.

It probably would be unwise to interpret too optimistically the words of the bulletin, for the King has now been ill for 17 days and is granted to be still a very sick man. Also it could hardly be thought that the chances for another turn for the worst have been eliminated.

Pleasure was expressed among the members of the royal household with what was regarded as the reassuring nature of the doctors' report. It was pointed out, however, that the progress indicated must necessarily be slow.

There was also satisfaction among the King's entourage that the doctors had omitted any mention of anxiety concerning his heart, which had appeared in several previous bulletins. This was regarded as a good sign.

Lord Dawson visited Buckingham Palace this afternoon and had a brief consultation with Sir Stanley on the King's condition.

About the time of the doctors' afternoon visit, the Queen and Princess Mary went for a drive. The Queen not only smiled, as customary, in response to the salutations of the crowd at the palace gates, but waved her hand to the throng.

Heart Chief Concern of Doctors.

While hope continued strong for King George today, there seemed to be a general realization by the public that he hung between life and death.

The King's heart, taxed by the strain of his long illness, was still the chief concern of his physicians. Great importance was placed, however, to their statement that his strength was being maintained although there had been a rise in his temperature.

It was stated authoritatively at

HOUSE VOTES FOR GUN ELEVATION ON TWO BATTLESHIPS

Appropriates $14,800,000 for Raising Turrets on Arizona and Pennsylvania and Anti-Aircraft Defense

PROTECTION AGAINST SUBMARINE PROVIDED

Other Measures Passed for Improving Naval Stations Subject to Limitation Treaty Terms.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The House yesterday passed a half dozen bills pertaining to the naval establishment—one of them to authorize an expenditure for the elevation of the big turret guns on the battleships Pennsylvania and Arizona.

It also put through a measure to authorize an appropriation of $14,800,000 which should enable the Navy Department to carry out major improvements at about 20 naval stations. Besides for elevating the guns, the bill which proposes a total appropriation of $14,800,000, also would provide for other alterations and repairs including additional protection against submarine and air attack, airplane handling arrangements and the installation of anti-aircraft batteries. The measure carried a provision, however, that the alterations should be subject to the limitations imposed under the Washington naval limitation treaty.

Only One Opposing Member.

The sole objection to the measure voiced on the floor came from Representative La Guardia (Rep.) of New York, who declared the United States, after proclaiming a desire to lead the world in peace, should not permit the first action of Congress to be the authorization of money to be spent in preparing for war.

The other bills were of minor importance, dealing principally with regulations of the naval personnel. Chairman Britten of the Naval Committee, who was in charge of all the bills, said in his 16 years in Congress he never had known as many bills to be passed through in such a short period.

Commander Kenworthy, British Parliament member, has called Britten expressing the opinion that "nothing but good" could come from clear and frank interchange of views between independent members of Congress and independent members of Parliament." In addition, Kenworthy said he hoped the opportunity for such an interchange might be afforded.

Britten, who is preparing a reply to Kenworthy, said he was considering a suggestion that an inter-parliamentary Anglo-American conference be held in Geneva next August.

No Criticism of Action.

Britten's action in proposing to the British Prime Minister that members of the House Naval Affairs Committee meet with members of Parliament in an attempt to lay the framework for a naval accord, drew no open expression of disapproval from the State Department. It was understood, however, that the State Department felt that Britten in sending his message to Baldwin, instead of through the usual diplomatic channels, was infringing on territory that did not belong to him.

"Debate on the floor of the House" Britten said, "showed that members generally are not inclined to take seriously the assumption of diplomats that they are the God-chosen and sole beings for the promotion of good will among nations, and there will be no trouble in getting support for any movement intended to bring about an Anglo-American inter-parliamentary conference."

Prime Minister Baldwin in his reply to Britten expressed appreciation for the Naval Affairs Committee chairman's message, but he did not indicate that he intended to take immediate action as a result of it.

$8000 EXPLOSION AND FIRE IN EASTON AV. PAINT STORE

Fire, which followed an explosion at 2:30 o'clock this morning, caused $8000 damage to a two-story building at 4205 W. Easton avenue, occupied by the paint store of Martin Rosen.

A family occupied the second floor from the building in their night clothing. The cause of the explosion was not learned. Neither the building nor the contents was insured, according to police.

Man in Whose Room Pearl Potoskey Was Killed; Pistol Found Near Body

ABOVE, Sol Hohenhalt as he appeared at police headquarters after his arrest at funeral. Below, the .32-caliber automatic pistol found beside the body. The discharged shell, the bullet (also shown here) and the pistol are of the same calibre.

GERK SAYS WOMAN WAS NOT SHOT WITH PISTOL NEAR BODY

derer. "I feel awfully bad about this."

Welch explained to him that the Potoskey family did not wish him present. Hohenhalt frowned perplexed and said: "Why, I know the family well, they were always friendly."

Hohenhalt left without viewing the body, and a moment later was taken in custody by Detective Lieutenant Carroll, who found a revolver in Hohenhalt's pocket.

The funeral services began at 2 o'clock. There was no priest. Welch intoned prayers at the foot of the casket.

Above the muffled responses could be heard the sobs of the close-clustered Potoskey family. The girl's mother, wearing heavy mourning, became hysterical during the prayers, and insisted on viewing the dead girl's body. Supported by nieces, she advanced weeping to the casket, where, after placing the flower-laden casket to the side, she fainted.

The women in the parlor pressed close. A soprano in a room at the rear, was singing "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere. God Lives and All Is Well." Mrs. Harry Hammett, sister of the dead woman, attempted to aid her mother and also swooned. The mother was finally revived, and led outside. The pall-bearers carried the flower-laden casket to the street.

Hohenhalt's Wreath Rejected. The incomplete rites of burial were gone through under a squared, canvas shelter at the extreme north of the cemetery. The undertaker again spoke the Catholic prayers for the dead. The flowers were heaped at the side of the open grave. The wreath sent by Hohenhalt was absent, for the family refused to accept it. Women began a sudden wailing. The white casket was suspended over the grave.

"That is all," the undertaker said. It was his intention to dismiss the crowd so that the casket might be taken to a vault to await the autopsy ordered by the family. Pearl's mother, muffled in a great black coat, did not wish to leave the grave.

"No," she cried, "I want to stay with Pearl."

Relatives led her away.

The crowd at the funeral. Persons attending the funeral of the young woman, who as a girl met Hohenhalt and thereby shaped many of her life's patterns, were many classes. There were Polish women—family friends. There were smartly dressed women who had been regular customers at Pearl's beauty shop at 509 North Taylor avenue. There were swarms of the morbidly curious.

Whether or not, in the stream of the thousand or more persons who passed through the parlor

W. M. SEARS, WORTH $800,000, A SPENDTHRIFT, JURY DECIDES

Conservator for Son of Mail Order House Founder Sought by Mother.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—A jury in Judge Henry Horner's Probate Court yesterday decided that Wesley M. Sears, son of the late Richard W. Sears, one of the founders of the firm of Sears, Roebuck & Co., was a "spendthrift and incompetent to manage his own affairs."

The petition alleging Sears was a spendthrift was filed by his mother, Mrs. Anna L. Sears, who stated she feared her son's habits would lead to the dissipation of his fortune of $800,000. Judge Horner indicated he would appoint a conservator in the near future.

$200,000 IN DIAMONDS SEIZED

Special Customs Squad Uncovers Smuggled Stones.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Smuggled jewels valued at approximately $200,000 have been seized by the special diamond squad of the Customs Bureau which was created less than a year ago. The squad has played a leading role, Treasury officials declared, in the recent uncovering of a huge diamond smuggling plot in which the jewels were brought on steamships to New York. The members of the squad have been scattered in far-off countries, mainly in Europe, and have informed customs agents in this country of persons smuggling the diamonds. In addition to confiscating the diamonds the Government assesses fines equaling the value of the stones.

By the Associated Press. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 6.—Mrs. May Reynolds of Phoenix, Ariz., today won a verdict for $12,500 damages in her $100,000 alienation of affections suit against her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ella D. Vaughan of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Reynolds charged Mrs. Vaughan threatened to disinherit her son, Raymond Reynolds, her son by a former marriage, if he continued to live with his wife, Mrs. Vaughan is a niece of the late Henry Denison and has inherited a large fortune. The Federal Court yesterday received the case late yesterday and four hours later reached and asked its findings.

German Unrest Welfare Tablet. REILIN, Dec. 6.—German gratitude for American relief work during and after the World War was expressed today at the unveiling of a memorial tablet in the main hall of the Social Welfare Center in Berlin. Hermann Dietrich, Minister of Food and Agriculture, who represented President von Hindenburg, Count Hugo Lerchenfeld and other welfare authorities recalled the part the United States played in the feeding of hungry German children.

WOMAN KILLED BY STUDENT'S CAR ON DELMAR BLVD.

Mrs. Daisy Matthews, 47, Wife of Missouri Pacific Auditor, Hit at De Baliviere Avenue.

Mrs. Daisy Matthews, 47 years old, 2435 Delmar boulevard, died at St. Luke's Hospital at 10 o'clock last night of injuries suffered an hour and a half earlier when she was struck by an automobile driven by Edward Hysinger, a student, 2274 Maryland avenue, University City, while attempting to cross De Baliviere avenue at Delmar boulevard.

Hysinger's roadster struck Mrs. Matthews as he swung into De Baliviere avenue from Delmar. She fell beneath the machine and was dragged, becoming wedged beneath the rear axle. At the hospital it was found that Hysinger's fractured left leg, internal injuries and an injury to the spine.

Hysinger was arrested and furnished bond to appear at an inquest today.

Mrs. Matthews was the wife of Allan Matthews, a train auditor for the Missouri Pacific Railroad. She also is survived by a daughter, Helen, a student at the University of Missouri.

Mrs. Matthews' death brings the number of motor vehicle fatalities in St. Louis since Jan. 1 to 190, as compared with 131 at this time last year. In 1925, the record year for motor vehicle fatalities here, there were 192 deaths.

Paul Jenkins, 9, 1326 Hickory street, suffered a fractured skull and an injury to the spine at 7 o'clock last night when he was struck by a machine driven by Miss Pearl Blackwell, 1620 Hickory street, while playing in the street near his home.

Belleville Woman Killed When Son's Car Hits Parked Truck. Mrs. Anna Tienam, 56, Belleville, was killed at 11:30 o'clock last night when an automobile driven by her son, Henry, collided with a parked truck in West Main street at Forty-ninth street, Belleville.

Tienam told police the truck, owned by a St. Louis coal company, was unlighted. He and Miss Olinda Reuther, also of Belleville, who was in the machine, suffered cuts and bruises. Tienam, his mother and Miss Reuther were returning home from a theater in St. Louis.

Throughout the day, there appeared the young man to whom Pearl Potoskey was killed, and none could say. Pearl's immediate relatives are reticent on this young man.

Hohenhalt, wealthy son of an antiques and furniture merchant, the flashy dressed resident of De Soto, whose peddlings were constant topics of speculation on Main street, said nothing of this rival when he talked to police. He declared that a certain married man had threatened him for his attentions to Pearl. He gave that as his main reason for carrying the revolver.

He was released under bail of $1000 and ostensibly went back to De Soto, Mo. He was not allowed to take a room, as has been his custom, at the M. A. A. because the director of the hotel voided his membership at a meeting yesterday.

The women in the parlor pressed close. A soprano in a room at the rear, was singing "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere. God Lives and All Is Well." Mrs. Harry Hammett, sister of the dead woman, attempted to aid her mother and also swooned. The mother was finally revived, and led outside. The pall-bearers carried the flower-laden casket to the street.

Hohenhalt's Wreath Rejected. The incomplete rites of burial were gone through under a squared, canvas shelter at the extreme north of the cemetery. The undertaker again spoke the Catholic prayers for the dead. The flowers were heaped at the side of the open grave. The wreath sent by Hohenhalt was absent, for the family refused to accept it. Women began a sudden wailing. The white casket was suspended over the grave.

"That is all," the undertaker said. It was his intention to dismiss the crowd so that the casket might be taken to a vault to await the autopsy ordered by the family. Pearl's mother, muffled in a great black coat, did not wish to leave the grave.

"No," she cried, "I want to stay with Pearl."

Relatives led her away.

The crowd at the funeral. Persons attending the funeral of the young woman, who as a girl met Hohenhalt and thereby shaped many of her life's patterns, were many classes. There were Polish women—family friends. There were smartly dressed women who had been regular customers at Pearl's beauty shop at 509 North Taylor avenue. There were swarms of the morbidly curious.

5 KILLED, 6 HURT BY EXPLOSION AT NEW YORK PLANT

Disinfectant Establishment on E. 108th St. Blows Up —Manager Among Dead, Partner Missing.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—An explosion that wrecked three brick buildings in East 108th street this afternoon claimed at least five victims.

One body had been recovered an hour and a half after the explosion. It was that of Harry Freeman, foreman and part owner of the Kill-All Disinfecting Co., in whose plant the blast occurred. Seven injured men had been taken to hospitals, and one of them died. In addition to the Kill-All plant, the damaged buildings included a junk shop and a furrier's establishment. Harry Freeman's partner, was tentatively listed as missing.

The exact cause of the blast had not been determined, but it was generally attributed to a vapor explosion.

The buildings, all of brick, were one story high. The walls were shattered and the roof of the disinfecting plant caved in.

KILLED FARMER AT OWN REQUEST, YOUTH DECLARES

Ohioan, 19, Says Recluse Started Photograph and Invited Him To Shoot.

LOGAN, O., Dec. 6.—While an old photograph rasped out the strains of "When the Sun Goes Down," Jacob Konchler, farmer-recluse in the Hocking County, Ohio, shot to death at his own request, according to a confession police say Ray Featherhoff, 19-year-old neighbor, made to them here today.

Konchler's body was found Monday night. Featherhoff was arrested on a charge of hunting without a license.

Following is a summary of the purported confession: Featherhoff, when hunting, secured a rabbit near Konchler's home. Konchler came to the door and asked Featherhoff to enter the cabin and bring his gun. "When I went into the parlor," Featherhoff is quoted as saying, "Konchler told me he was tired and tired of living and wanted to die. He said I could have the farm if I'd shoot him. Then he walked over to the photograph and started up the record, 'When the Sun Goes Down.' While he was standing there I shot him in the back of the head. I didn't stop to look after I pulled the trigger."

Poles Would Outlaw Duelling. WARSAW, Dec. 6.—The Polish Socialist party has introduced a bill in Parliament by which murder charges would be preferred in the event of a fatality in duels and would make participation in a duel a crime. There have recently been several duels in Poland in which fairly prominent persons have been killed, the latest being the death of a vice director of a bank.

Great public interest has been shown in the homecoming journey of the Prince of Wales. Arrangements have been made to hasten his arrival in London and it is estimated that he will reach here about 5 a. m. next Wednesday, having covered the 4550 miles.

King Reported Improved, Public Anxiety Relaxes

the palace during the night that the King had a good day yesterday with plenty of rest, and certainly was no worse than he had been Tuesday night.

Wants Reports More Precise. In some sections of the press, this morning, there was a disposition to call for more precise bulletins. This plea for fuller information with regard to the King's illness led the medical correspondent of the Daily Telegraph to say that up to now there had been no authoritative, clean-cut statement with regard to what the illness was.

He added that it would seem to be expected that attempts to read between the lines of the rather unnecessarily laconic bulletins would suggest that the King's condition was far from satisfactory, but one important factor, tending to give some confidence in an ultimately favorable issue, was the fact that hitherto the strength of the King has been well maintained.

The Daily News medical correspondent said: "The King's condition remains grave and will be critical for some days, to come, even if the infection again diminishes. Hope largely depends on the maintenance of his strength and the amount of rest he can secure."

Anti-Fog Appliances Used. Anti-fog appliances, which are designed to keep the air in Buckingham Palace clear, were put into full operation during the night to prevent the worst fog of the season from entering the sick room of the King.

The strain of the crisis through which the King has been passing has fallen most heavily upon three anxious women at the palace. Queen Mary, as one of the six Counsellors of State, was called upon to sign a huge bulk of official documents that have accumulated during her husband's illness. She did not relax her duties as mistress of the palace and was a constant visitor to the sick room where her habitual cheerfulness was understood to have been a great help to the King in his struggle for recovery.

Princess Mary and the Duchess of York spend hours at the palace daily sharing with each other the multitude of duties connected with the great household and relieving the Queen of countless personal tasks such as answering her private telephone and responding to her private letters.

Princess Elizabeth, baby daughter of the Duchess of York, begs to see her grandfather each time she visits the palace and when refused, sends childish messages and tokens of love, which are conveyed to the King.

Prince Expected Wednesday. Great public interest has been shown in the homecoming journey of the Prince of Wales. Arrangements have been made to hasten his arrival in London and it is estimated that he will reach here about 5 a. m. next Wednesday, having covered the 4550 miles.

from Dar-es-Salaam in less than 10 days.

Newspapers today said it was probable that the Prince would soon be promoted to the rank of General in the army and Rear Admiral in the navy. His present rank in the army is that of a Colonel and in the navy that of a Captain. His promotion in the army would occur in any case some time soon in view of his length of service, but it was thought that this would be hastened since he would have to act as deputy for the King at various military functions during the King's illness and convalescence.

The King's solicitude, even on his sickbed, for the needy among his subjects was expressed by Queen Mary in reply to a message of sympathy from the conference of mayors of England and Wales. The conference was held at the Mansion House to discuss the Lord Mayors' fund for relief of the distressed in mining areas.

"It is the earnest hope of the King and myself that the appeal for relief of the distress in the mining districts should meet the ready response it deserves," the Queen wrote. It was stated at the conference that the fund totaled $600,000, but was still hopelessly inadequate. The new Archbishop of Canterbury sent a check of $500 to the fund on the day of his enthronement.

Premier Baldwin stated in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon that the Government was watching the situation in the depressed mining areas with great anxiety and the Minister of Health was carefully examining the situation.

COMPROMISE ON COLORADO RIVER DAM PROPOSED

Arizona Senator Offers Amendment on Allotment of Water Among States Affected.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—An amendment to the Boulder Canyon dam bill, regarded as a concrete attempt to compose the water distribution differences between Arizona and California was offered today by Senator Hayden (Dem.), Arizona, when debate on the measure was resumed.

The proposal would give California 4,200,000 acre feet of water of the 7,500,000 allotted to the lower Colorado basin states of Nevada, Arizona, California, 2,000,000 to Nevada and 2,000,000 to Arizona.

COOLIDGE SENDS NOMINATION OF ROY O. WEST TO SENATE

Predictions Upset by Action Looking to Confirmation of Two Appointees to Cabinet.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—President Coolidge upset the predictions of many on Capitol Hill today by sending to the Senate for confirmation the names of Roy O. West and William F. Whiting, secretaries of the Interior and Commerce, respectively.

When the President failed to send these nominations at the opening of Congress, there was much conjecture as to whether he might allow the men to serve through the remainder of his term under the recess appointments when they during the summer.

A fight on West has been forecast based on the argument of some Senators that he had been connected with the Insull power interests and that a man from the Far West should have the job. The Senate Public Lands Committee has been called to meet Saturday to consider the nomination of West. Several Senators have asked Chairman Nye to call West for a hearing.

The nomination of Patrick J. Farrell of Vermont and the District of Columbia, to be a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, also was sent to the Senate by the President. Farrell succeeds Commissioner John J. Esch. The nominations of Claude R. Porter of Iowa and Clyde B. Atchison of Oregon, reappointed as members of the commission, also were sent to the Senate.

J. W. BECKER'S $20,000 HOME IN OSAGE HILLS SECTION BURNS

Kirkwood Fire Department Finds Hose Does Not Fit Plug; Pair Flees in Night Clothing.

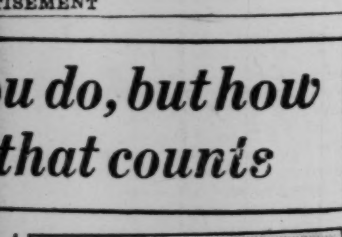

Fire which originated between the second floor and the first floor ceiling at the home of Joseph W. Becker, executive secretary of the Missouri Tuberculosis Association, at 26 Ponca trail, in the Osage Hills section of Kirkwood, at 2 o'clock this morning, destroyed the dwelling. The loss, partly insured, was about $20,000.

Becker, who had been confined to bed for several days with a severe cold, and his wife fled in their night clothing to a neighbor's home. Mrs. Becker had smelled smoke at midnight, but investigation then disclosed nothing. Apparently there was a defective flue.

The Kirkwood Fire Department discovered that the Osage Hills fire plugs did not fit its hose, and had to return several miles to headquarters for special couplings. Neighbors saved some furniture from the first floor. The house, an eight-room frame structure, was one of the cottages left from the old Osage Hills development, but had been rebuilt.

WOMAN'S ASSETS $1000, LIABILITIES ABOVE $9,000,000

"La Grande Catherine of Finance" of Paris Held for Losses Put as High as $20,000,000

SAVERS HARD HIT BY HER PROMOTIONS

Two Ministers Linked With Scheme, but Names Have Not Been Disclosed—Another Arrest Pending.

By ARNO DOSCH FLEUROT, Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
PARIS, Dec. 6.—From her cell in the La Santé prison, where she is held on charges of swindling investors of between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000, Mme. Marthe Hanau yesterday sent out numerous telegrams declaring she is the victim of an infamous attack by financial enemies.

More than 400 branch offices of the Gazette du Franc et Des Nations, the financial newspaper founded and managed by her, she has instructed that the tens of thousands of investors in the company promoted by her be found out and that if they keep cool they will come out all right.

The 42-year-old former traveling salesman, upon whom the Parisian public has fixed the sobriquet "La Grande Catherine of Finance," displayed not the slightest trace of uneasiness since the arrest of herself and her divorced husband and present partner, Louis Bloch.

Called a "Famous Woman," she is a Frenchwoman, described by the police as a Charles Ponzi, but no self-proclaimed publisher of the statement that she had lost more than $20,000,000. Authorities say she and her former husband pyramided one corporation on another and did not have time to realize on their stocks to the point when arrested.

Meanwhile, legal and financial experts who have been checking her accounts, have found assets of only 22,000 francs ($3,000) and liabilities of more than $9,000,000. The experts said the work was almost completed. Some of them thought that the ultimate loss might be close to $50,000,000.

Another Arrest Likely.
Announcement by the police that her arrest might be made with a day or two and refusal by Bloch to answer their questions by the police, her developments today in scandal. The woman, in fact, said that she would bring in the "higher ups" unless the money was paid her by the government.

Because of this hint and also because yesterday a member of the cabinet members were involved with shady financial companies, the identity of the third party implicated by the police became a matter of much comment. Authorities would not say they expected to arrest, but rumors and whispers were to the effect that the man was a prominent politician and known also as a financier.

How She Operated Scheme.
Companies which Mrs. Hanau had bought some of the best known properties in all principal cities of France. The police said her object was to get money from the public by the sale of shares in these companies. The opinion that in every company she could back any stock wanted to launch. She and her partner were said to have had new companies at almost a day.

Her organization had thousands of men out getting business. These agents induced tens of thousands of men in poor and modest circumstances to put their savings in stocks they were booming. High notices printed in their papers. Mrs. Hanau saw every man on a vast scale and had faith in the power of organization.

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 6.—G. Hall Davis, well-to-do Atlanta automobile dealer, was shot and killed on a downtown street here today by W. L. Shippey, who surrendered to police with the statement that Davis' attentions to Mrs. Shippey was the cause.

The shooting occurred in front of a warehouse where Shippey was employed as a clerk and which is just across the railroad tracks from Davis' business establishment. Witnesses said Davis drove up to the warehouse in an automobile shortly before 8 a. m. and called for Shippey.

He emerged from the building and immediately began firing at Davis. He put five bullets into his body. A few minutes later Shippey accosted two policemen in front of police headquarters and announced he wished to report the killing of a man.

"Are you sure you killed some one?" he was asked. "I hope so," was the rejoinder. "I shot him through the head five times."

Fellow employees said Shippey and Davis had trouble before and recently Shippey had been transferred from a post in the front part of the warehouse to prevent him from coming in contact with Davis.

J. B. Shields and O. C. Nichols, witnesses, accompanied Shippey to Police Headquarters where police said he declared that Davis "took advantage of my wife." Davis was about 35 years old and was married.

Shippey said he had summoned Davis to the warehouse to kill him after having brooded for some time over the relationship between his wife and the automobile man. "I still love and trust my wife," he added. "I blame her for nothing. This mess was forced upon her. I brooded over it. I couldn't sleep or eat. I guess I went mad. This morning I made up my mind. I called Davis up and asked him to come over. Then I shot him."

"I had talked to him about the affair before and warned him to leave my wife alone. Nothing had happened until the last day or so to provoke me. I was just brooding. Then all of a sudden I couldn't stand it. I had to kill him."

Mrs. Shippey's brother was one of the first to visit Shippey at the police station.

Fellow employees said Shippey and Davis had trouble before and recently Shippey had been transferred from a post in the front part of the warehouse to prevent him from coming in contact with Davis.

J. B. Shields and O. C. Nichols, witnesses, accompanied Shippey to Police Headquarters where police said he declared that Davis "took advantage of my wife." Davis was about 35 years old and was married.

Shippey said he had summoned Davis to the warehouse to kill him after having brooded for some time over the relationship between his wife and the automobile man. "I still love and trust my wife," he added. "I blame her for nothing. This mess was forced upon her. I brooded over it. I couldn't sleep or eat. I guess I went mad. This morning I made up my mind. I called Davis up and asked him to come over. Then I shot him."

"I had talked to him about the affair before and warned him to leave my wife alone. Nothing had happened until the last day or so to provoke me. I was just brooding. Then all of a sudden I couldn't stand it. I had to kill him."

Mrs. Shippey's brother was one of the first to visit Shippey at the police station.

KIDNAPED BOY'S BODY FOUND AFTER SLAYER CONFESSES

Story of Detroit Prisoner Leads to Its Discovery by Police in New Jersey Swamp.

JOSEPH STORCIA.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The body of Joseph Storcia, 7 years old, who was kidnapped from his home on the East Side on Nov. 17, was found today in a swamp under a bridge near Secaucus, N. J. Examination of the body showed the boy had been killed by cutting his throat.

Private Cosmo Storcia of Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., identified the boy as that of his brother, Joseph.

A systematic search of the swamp was started at daybreak as a result of the confession of Peter Kudznowski, 28, to the police in Detroit, Mich., where he was arrested for intoxication, that he had kidnapped and killed an East Side boy.

The Detroit police telegraphed to Inspector John J. Underwood of the Jersey City police, that Kudznowski had told them of killing a boy in the meadow near the Susquehanna bridge last month.

Kudznowski had told them of killing a boy in the meadow near the Susquehanna bridge last month.

Jersey City police received word from Detroit that Kudznowski had waived extradition and Liset, Edward Davis departed to bring the prisoner to New Jersey to answer to a charge of murder.

Kudznowski, Detroit police said, told of taking the boy to a motion picture show and then to Jersey City, where they went for a walk in the meadow. After killing the child, Buffalo, where he remained for a few days, going to Detroit by bus.

The boy was last seen at 8:00 o'clock the night of Nov. 17, by Joseph Guillian, 8 years old, a playmate. At that time Joseph was looking at the signs outside of a Second avenue moving picture theater.

When his mother later that night reported him missing, detectives learned that earlier in the day a strange man, wearing a brown suit, had been seen to offer the boy candy and ask him to go for a walk. The boy was frightened and ran away from him, his playmates said.

Mumblings in Cell Lead to Confession by Kidnaper.
DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 6.—The finding of the body of 7-year-old Joseph Storcia in a swamp near Secaucus, N. J., followed an admission to police here yesterday by Peter Kudznowski that he kidnapped and killed a small boy there Nov. 17 and that he had killed a fellow section hand in Scranton, Pa., four years ago.

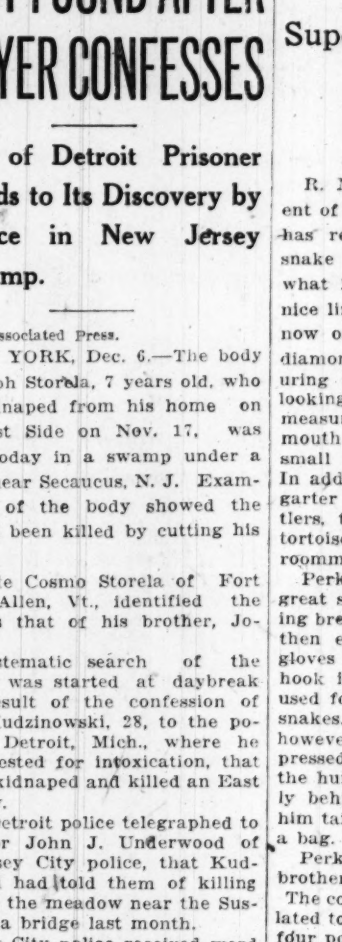

Kudznowski was arrested for drunkenness. His mumblings while in a cell caused detectives to question him and the confession followed.

Kudznowski, police said, gave a description of the boy he said he killed and the spot where he buried him. It was this information that led to discovery of the body.

The prisoner, according to police, said he knew the boy only as "Joe" and that he had picked him up at Third avenue and Fourteenth street in New York City. From there he said he took him to a motion picture show and then took him for a ride.

Florida Rattlers, Indigo And Coral Snakes at Zoo

Superintendent Perkins of Reptile House Returns From Hunt With Harlequin, Tortoises and Other Specimens.

R. MARVIN PERKINS.

R. Marvin Perkins, superintendent of the reptile house in the Zoo, has returned from a two-week snake hunting trip in Florida with what Zoo officials describe as "a nice line of material." The "line," now on exhibition, includes three diamond-back rattlers, each measuring about 5½ feet; an ominous looking, but agreeable indigo snake, measuring 7½ feet, some cotton-mouth water moccasins and a small but deadly coral harlequin. In addition, there are chameleons, garter snakes, 18-inch pygmy rattlers, terrapins and some gopher-tortoises which keep rattlers for roommates.

Perkins says snake-hunting is great sport. The hunter dons riding breeches and knee-length boots, then equips himself with heavy gloves and a small stick with a hook in the end. The gloves are used for picking up non-poisonous snakes. In the case of a rattler, however, the back of the hook is pressed on the snake's head while the hunter grasps the reptile firmly behind the jaws and deposits him tail first—this is important—in a bag.

Perkins made the trip with a brother, L. D. Perkins, a salesman. The coral snake, Perkins said, is related to the cobra, and is one of the four poisonous snakes in the country. Its bite causes paralysis. However, it is said to have a good disposition. The specimen captured is about two feet long and brilliantly colored with alternate bands of black, red and yellow. The colors contrast with nature and serve as a warning.

In the same vicinity, the hunters bagged some terrapins and one of the diamond-back rattlers. The Florida diamond-back is the heaviest poisonous snake in the world. It attains a weight of 16 pounds. Cold weather interfered somewhat with the snake-hunting, at Royal Palm State Park in the southeastern extremity of the State, Perkins said. Accordingly, the hunters took the Tamiami trail and proceeded westward through the Everglades.

"Near Fort Myers we found garter snakes, Southern ribbon snakes and cotton-mouth water-moccasins," Perkins said. "This moccasin is the only poisonous water snake in America. We captured several specimens measuring about four feet. They are black with a yellowish belly and have a substantial waist-line."

The indigo snake captured by Perkins measures 7½ feet, but some of the species grow to a length of nine feet. It is black streaked and nonvenomous. It was discovered in the act of feeding on a coach-whip snake. The reptile was allowed to finish its meal, in order that it might be in good condition for the trip to St. Louis.

The trip was made for a preliminary survey and the territory, having come up to expectations, will be visited again, probably next spring.

Former Dorothy McBride's Mink Fur Taken From Leppert-Roos Store.

A mink fur coat valued at $4000, belonging to Mrs. Dorothy McBride Orthwein, wife of William D. Orthwein, head of the Independent Finance Co., was stolen a month ago from the Leppert-Roos Fur Co., 809 Washington boulevard, it became known today.

A. G. Solari, head of the fur company said his firm had arranged to call for the coat at the Orthwein home on Litzinger road in St. Louis County, and when Orthwein's chauffeur brought it to the store, where it was to have been repaired, its presence there was not called to the attention of a responsible member of the firm until two hours later. A search then disclosed it had been stolen.

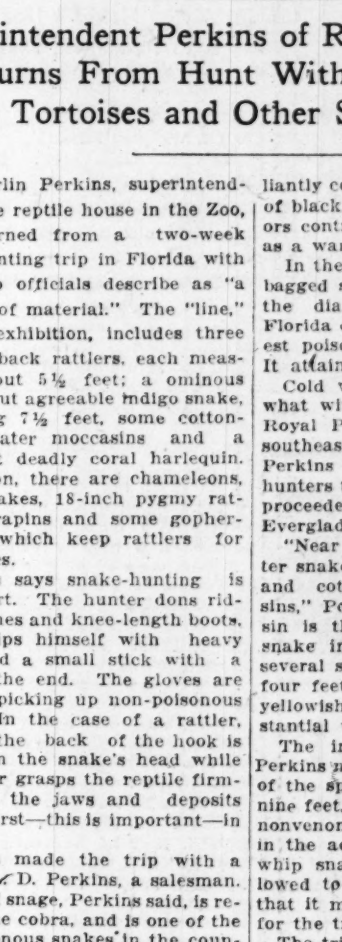

Three women notorious fur thieves who operate out of New York, are known to have been in St. Louis a few days before the theft and are suspected of having taken the coat. It is also thought they are the ones who stole a $2700 fur coat from Stix, Baer & Fuller department store about the same time.

Mrs. Orthwein carried insurance on the coat, but the insurance company has refused to pay.

Pair Overcome by Gas in Home.
Jacob Jung, 61 years old, and his wife, Martha, 60, were found in the kitchen of their home at 2920A Missouri avenue last midnight, unconscious, with gas flowing from unlighted burners of the stove. They were taken to city hospital. Mrs. Jung said the gas burners had been opened accidentally when her husband brushed against them.

COLLUSION CHARGED IN WASSALL DIVORCE

Aviator's Former Wife, Seeking Annulment, Says He and Attorney Deceived Her.

MRS. ETHEL WASSALL.

Mrs. Ethel Wassall, 7234 Bruno avenue, Richmond Heights, yesterday sued in Circuit Court at Clayton to set aside a divorce granted to her Oct. 2 from Maj. Charles H. Wassall, commanding officer of the 135th Division Air Corps of the Missouri National Guard, on the ground the decree was obtained through collusion and misrepresentations by Wassall and Clarence L. Wolff, her attorney.

A hearing will be held Saturday before Judge Mulloy, who granted the divorce and will decide whether to reopen the case. Wassall, when not flying, is an oil salesman. He and Attorney Wolff denied the allegations.

Five days after being divorced, Wassall married Miss Edna K. Echterkamp at St. Charles. The divorce was granted on the same day the petition was filed in Mrs. Wassall's name by Wolff. Wassall made a formal entry of appearance, but did not contest.

In the petition, Mrs. Wassall was recorded as desiring a divorce because her husband was indifferent and had told her he did not love her. The petition stated they had separated last Sept. 1.

The facts are, Mrs. Wassall asserts, that their married life was happy, and they lived together until Sept. 23 when Wassall asked her to obtain a "temporary divorce," saying such action would benefit him in a business way. Mrs. Wassall says her husband took her to Wolff's office and introduced her, and she did not employ him and did not pay him a fee.

Wassall assured her, she alleges, that, if she agreed to a "temporary divorce," he would continue his love and affection for her and would also continue to support her. Mrs. Wassall says she admitted she had no grounds for divorce, but that Wolff advised her it would be necessary only for her to answer in the affirmative such questions as he would propound.

Under these circumstances, Mrs. Wassall alleges, she signed the divorce petition without reading it and not realizing she was applying for a divorce that would be permanent. After the divorce, Mrs. Wassall says, Wassall informed her for the first time that he intended to marry another.

In granting the divorce, Judge Mulloy awarded Mrs. Wassall the family residence, $50 a month alimony, an automobile, $794 in stocks and a Government insurance policy for $5000 on Wassall's life for $5000.

They were taken to city hospital. Mrs. Jung said the gas burners had been opened accidentally when her husband brushed against them.

riod by Leppert-Roos does not protect against theft.
Another recent theft of fur coats was solved early this week when a Negro, arrested in Cincinnati, confessed having stolen about 18 coats valued at $5000 from the Thomas W. Garland Co., Nov. 20. Four coats were recovered.

HOLDUP MAN CAPTURED AFTER BLOCK'S CHASE

Watchman Faces Leveled Pistol to Make Arrest—$70 Lost Recovered.

A gray-haired man with a revolver held up the proprietor, the cook and a customer in a saloon at 823 Clark avenue yesterday afternoon, took $70 from the cash register and ran out.

Michael Wiesbahr, the owner, notified Private Watchman Michael Ford who was passing. Ford caught up with the robber a block away. Although the man reached in his pocket for his revolver and threatened to kill Ford if he advanced any further, the watchman made the arrest, discovering then that the robber's revolver was not loaded. The $70 was found in his pocket.

The prisoner said he was Frank Smith, 52 years old, living at a Sixth street lodging house.

Cornie Cosgrove, grocer at 4086 Lee avenue, was robbed of $51 in a holdup last night.

A Negro with a razor took $29 from Lawrence Fahlbusch, 3448 Hartford street, an insurance agent, as he was making a collection at 15 North Cardinal avenue.

Bricks were hurled through windows at the stores of Samuel Zidin, 3225 Laclede avenue, and Harry Holtzman, 2919 Market street, and $100 worth of apparel stolen.

Windows were broken at the homes of Arch Goodenough, 5404 Arlington avenue, Elmer Kespohl, 5410 Arlington, and Louis Gledenhagen, 5418 Arlington, from which loot totaling $225 was taken.

A burglar beat a watch dog at the home of Samuel Brillant, 8344 South Eighteenth street, and Brillant fired a shot from a window at the burglar on the back porch. The burglar fled.

LOUISVILLE GAMBLER FREED BY KIDNAPERS

Ed Alvey, Held 54 Hours With Eyes Bandaged, Released Without Ransom.

By the Associated Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 6.—Fear because of widespread publicity and police activity today was thought to have caused "gentleman kidnapers" to abandon an abduction plot and release Ed Alvey, 69 years old, wealthy Louisville gambler, after holding him prisoner nearly 54 hours.

Alvey returned to his home shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, having been released without payment of a ransom. He had been kidnaped shortly after 6 p. m. Monday, while out for a walk in front of his home, and was forced into an automobile by three unidentified men, one of whom covered him with a pistol.

An employee of Alvey's told police he had received a telephone call the day after the kidnaping and that the caller hinted at a $50,000 ransom, without, however, making a direct demand for the money.

From the moment of his capture to the time of his release in a Louisville suburb, about midnight, the abductors had bandages over his eyes. Regarding his imprisonment almost as an adventure, Alvey told his wife and friends who had gathered at his home when he arrived, that he had been treated "royally" and would not mind remaining longer with his "hosts" as a guest.

Acted Like Gentlemen.
Alvey recalled conversation of his abductors, and declared his captors acted as "gentlemen" and were pleasant and thoughtful throughout his captivity. The kidnapers, he declared, informed him that they had worked out a plot to kidnap him Sunday night, and had lain in waiting near his home about midnight, but that he evidently had "beat them in."

Alvey said he did not know where he had been kept, but thought it must have been across the river, possibly in or near New Albany, Ind., as he judged the car had been driven over the Ohio river bridge into New Albany after he had been taken prisoner.

Most of the time his captors kept him handcuffed, but occasionally removed the cuffs to allow him exercise, he said. The room where he had been imprisoned was lavishly furnished. He received excellent meals and had been allowed the luxury of a barber.

BRIDLE TRAIL ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED IN COUNTY

Wealthy Group Seeks to Stimulate Interest in Horseback Riding and Hiking.

A group of wealthy residents of St. Louis County who feel that outdoor sports such as horseback riding and hiking are being forced into the background by the automobile, have organized the Bridle Trail Association for the purpose of stimulating interest in these sports. A petition for a decree of incorporation was filed in the Circuit Court at Clayton yesterday.

The association does not contemplate building a clubhouse or making extensive expenditures, according to Henry McKee, president. "It is getting so everyone drives around in automobiles," said Samuel B. McPheeters, attorney for the association. "People seem to have forgotten the art of hiking and riding horseback."

Other officers are J. Gates Williams, first vice president; Horton W. Williams, second vice president; and P. A. McSweeney, secretary and treasurer. The members include Charles Boyle O. Rhodes, Allen T. West, Harry H. Knight and Andrew W. Johnson. The purpose is stated to be "to promote a more intimate knowledge and appreciation of dogs and horses, in order that such knowledge may be conducive to the well-being of the community."

Members own ground on which a bridle trail has been laid out in St. Louis County.

NEGRO CONVICTED OF ATTACK ON GIRL, 9, GETS 25 YEARS

William Upchurch, Bootblack, Found Guilty by Jury in Judge Hartmann's Court.

William Upchurch, 28 years old, Negro bootblack of 4185 Fair avenue, employed in a barber shop at 4187 Fair, was sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary yesterday in Judge Hartmann's court on being found guilty by a jury of an attack on a 9-year-old white girl.

The child lived in that neighborhood and reported the attack to her parents.

STEER SELLS AT $7 A POUND

Record Price Paid for Grand Champion at Livestock Show.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—A record-breaking price for the grand champion steer of the International Livestock Exposition was paid today when the Hereford yearling, owned by Clarence Goecke, 12 years old, State Center, Ia., was knocked down on the auction block for $7 a pound.

The previous high price, paid in 1926, was $3.60 a pound. Today's purchaser was the J. C. Penney Co. of New York.

TWO DRIVERS GET 30 DAYS

Two men were fined $100 and sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse on charges of driving when intoxicated and fined $25 for careless driving by Provisional Judge Blocher yesterday.

They were Gus A. Anderson, 7411 Ethel avenue, and Scott Phillips, a Negro, 2223A Adams street.

THREE ESCAPED CONVICTS SOUGHT NEAR ELDON, MO.

Inmates of State Prison Kidnap Auto Owner and Force Him to Drive Them 30 Miles.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 6.—A detachment of prison guards today searched the country near Eldon, 33 miles southwest of Jefferson City, for three convicts who escaped from the penitentiary early last evening. Kidnaped H. L. Brashear of Jefferson City, and forced him to take them from Jefferson City in his automobile.

The car was wrecked near Eldon, when it skidded into a ditch after one of the convicts had taken the wheel from Brashear because he was not driving fast enough. They walked into Eldon, compelling Brashear to accompany them. Brashear escaped while the convicts were attempting to steal another automobile in Eldon. He notified Eldon officers.

The convicts, who escaped from the prison by hiding in a freight car that was switched from inside the prison to the Jefferson City railroad yards, were: John Shead, life term convict from Bates County who previously had escaped from the penitentiary twice. Shead scaled the prison wall in October, 1917, and was recaptured several months later in California. He escaped again in 1920, when he and several other convicts released the brakes on a coal car on the prison loading track and crashed through the prison gates.

Two Sentenced from St. Louis. Ben Kucharske of St. Louis, serving a 15-year sentence from Jan. 24, 1923, for the shooting of a guard in an attempted escape from the Booneville Reformatory in 1922. Kucharske originally was sentenced to the reformatory from St. Louis.

Thomas Palkowski, serving a 10-year sentence from St. Louis, from last March 28, for robbery. Palkowski was to be returned to the New York State prison at Auburn, N. Y., when he completed his Missouri sentence. He escaped from the Auburn prison several years ago.

Warden Rudolph said the three convicts, who were employed in the prison kitchen, apparently hid in the freight car just before it was switched out of the prison, about 6 o'clock last night. They were not missed until the usual roll call check was made late in the evening. The door of the car had been closed and locked before the car was taken from the prison. A railroad employee notified the prison they had seen a convict leaving a freight car in the yards, and it was found the convicts had gotten out of the car by cutting a hole in the door.

Man Forced to Drive.

Brashear was getting his car out of his garage, in rear of a residence just east of the Governor's mansion, when the three convicts entered the garage, threatened him with a revolver, and forced him to drive for them. A friend of Brashear's called him as he was driving away from the garage, but the convicts would not permit him to answer. Brashear is proprietor of a lunch stand.

Brashear said the convicts threatened several times to kill him because he was not driving as fast as they thought he should, and one of the convicts replaced him as a driver, near Eldon. The convict was not familiar with the road and the car skidded into a ditch on a curve. Brashear was bruised severely when the car went into the ditch.

The convicts arrived in Eldon about 10:30 p. m. Brashear ran, he said, when the convicts were preparing to steal another automobile in Eldon. Eldon officers said no automobile theft had been reported last night, and they thought the convicts had fled to the wooded hill country south of Eldon.

WEALTHY WIDOW FOUND SLAIN IN RANSACKED HOME

Police Advance Robbery as Motive for Killing of Mrs.
Samuel Jones, 63, of Towanda, Pa.

By the Associated Press.

TOWANDA, Pa., Dec. 6.—A search for Arthur Leonard, 22 years old, who was reared by Mrs. Samuel Jones, 63, was being made today by authorities investigating the killing of the wealthy widow at her home near here. The young man, formerly an inmate of a reformatory, was reported to have been at the woman's farm home recently, but no trace of him was found when officers began their search.

Leonard was reared in his childhood by Mrs. Jones, but some years ago left her to work for other persons in this section. He was sent to the Glenn Mills reformatory near Philadelphia after he was convicted of stealing chickens from the Jones farm.

The authorities said that on the night before Mrs. Jones was killed, a store near her home was robbed and a quantity of cigarettes taken. Stubs of cigarettes of the same brand as those that were stolen were found in the Jones house when the woman's body was discovered last night.

Finger prints were found on a lamp shade in the house and on the tonneau of the woman's automobile, which the murderer evidently tried to steal.

Robbery was advanced as a motive of the crime. Relatives of the woman said she was in the habit of keeping large sums of money secreted about the house. No money was found in the house by police.

An explanation of one of two notes found near the home was made today when a school boy disclosed that he had written it for a companion. The note reading "I have gone to M. O. effort," had puzzled the authorities. Michael O'Connor, the school boy, told the authorities that he and a companion usually met near the Jones home on their way to school. He said that he had left the note for his friend to advise him that he had gone on to school. He said the initials "M. O." were his. The other note was being investigated. It read: "I have gone away for a few days. Take care of the staff." Mrs. Jones' relatives could not identify the handwriting.

An autopsy disclosed that Mrs. Jones had suffered two skull fractures, lacerations of the face and scalp, a broken nose and fractured bones in both hands in addition to having been shot in the face and arm.

The house was ransacked. There was evidence of a terrific struggle. The woman's automobile was found stalled a few hundred feet from the house. Police thought one person pushed the machine, causing the finger prints, while another sat at the wheel of the car. The murder, it is thought, was committed Sunday.

Mrs. Jones' husband died last June. Since that time she had operated a 200-acre farm.

PULLMAN PORTER ARRESTED

FOR $170 THEFT ON HIS CAR
Detectives, Hiding, See Negro Lift Rubber Mat in Vestibule and Pick Up Money.

Two city detectives and a railroad special agent concealed in a baggage car at Union Station last night watched a passenger train back in on the next track. They saw the Negro porter on the Pullman car, Monte Blanco, help his passengers to alight. When all were gone, the porter lifted a rubber mat on a step of the car and removed a wad of bills.

The detectives arrested the porter and found there was $170 in the wad. E. I. Crockett, a passenger on the Pullman out of Denver, had wired from Atchison, Kan., that $170 had been stolen from his berth. His description of the currency fitted the money seized from the porter.

"I found the money in a berth," explained the porter, "and put it under the step mat for safekeeping. I was going to turn it in to the lost and found department."

DR. JAMES HARVEY ROBINSON HEADS HISTORICAL ASSOCIATION

Elected President of the American to Succeed Prof. Brewster on Dec. 28.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Election of Dr. James Harvey Robinson of New York, former professor of history at Columbia University, as president of the American Historical Association for 1929, was announced today. He will take office at the forty-third annual meeting of the association, to be held in Indianapolis beginning Dec. 28, and will succeed Prof. James H. Brewster of the University of Chicago.

Ivy Lee of New York was named chairman of the National Endowment Committee, which is to seek an endowment of $1,000,000 for historical research. The chairmanship formerly was held by the late Albert J. Beveridge.

Other officers include: Vice Presidents, Prof. Evarist B. Greene of Columbia University and Prof. Ephraim Douglas Adams of Stanford University; secretary, Prof. Dexter Perkins of Rochester, N. Y.; treasurer, Charles Moore of Washington, chairman of the National Fine Arts Commission.

ROTHSTEIN PAPERS SEIZED BY COURT; LOCKED IN VAULT

Two Boxes Said to Contain Evidence of His Underworld Activities Including Bond Thefts.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Two steel boxes, thought to contain evidence of the underworld activities of Arnold Rothstein, slain gambler, were locked in a bank vault today under court orders.

The two boxes, sealed by the grand jury, which has been examining their contents, were heavily guarded as they were taken from the courtroom to the bank.

Newspapers said the boxes contained information which the grand jury thought would show how the gambler bribed police officials during the communists' fur and garment strikes in 1926 and also might uncover mysterious thefts of bonds and jewelry in this city in recent years.

McManus Pleads Not Guilty.
District Attorney Banton disclosed that police are seeking Hyman (Gilly) Biller, betting agent and pay-off man for Rothstein. Whether Biller was one of the men identified only as "Richard Roe" or "John Doe" in the four murder indictments found by the grand jury, the prosecutor refused to say.

George McManus, professional gambler, pleaded not guilty yesterday to an indictment charging him and three others with the murder of Rothstein.

Counsel for McManus, only man identified of the four indicted and the only one in custody, has until Dec. 20 to prepare motions pertaining to the indictment.

Evidence as to the power Rothstein once held in the underworld was given by Alpheus Geer, founder of the Marshall Stillman Movement for the Rehabilitation of Criminals.

Speaking before a Kiwanis Club luncheon Geer told of a threat that once had been made against two men who were working in the factory maintained by the Stillman fund.

Says Rothstein Averted Murders.
Geer said he went to see Rothstein whom he knew to be a power in the underworld.

"I've heard rumors that two of our men are to be taken for a ride," he told the gambler. "If that is so you can stop it. If you don't—well, we have 150 to 200 men who specialize in such things as bumping off, and it will only start another gang war."

"Rothstein said he'd prevent that shooting and he did," Geer said he knew two men who would tell him confidentially who killed Rothstein if he went to them and asked them, but that he didn't intend to do that.

"I'm not interested in the punitive aspect of the crime problem," he said. "What I want to do is to prevent murders like that of Rothstein, not cause more."

WAR VETERAN KILLS SELF

Joseph F. Meyer Jr., 34 years old, a carpenter, was found dead from a bullet wound in the head, in a room at the Oak Hotel, 1608 Market street, last night. Meyer, a World War veteran, was the son of Joseph F. Meyer, a wholesale meat dealer of 3724 Cote Brilliante avenue.

A revolver and a note were found beside the body. The note, addressed to "Dear mother, sisters and brothers," said: "Forgive me. I could not help it." Members of the family said Meyer had been in poor health several years. Meyer had been dead several hours when the body was found by a maid at 9 o'clock. He registered at the hotel Nov. 28.

Pastor's Installation Tonight.

MISSING TWO DAYS, MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN HIS HOME

Bottle Thought to Have Contained Poison Found Beside Body of 1898 War Veteran.

The body of William Pfeiffer, 57 years old, was found in the basement of his home, 5037 Rosa avenue, last night by relatives, who returned home following an absence of two days.

The body, wrapped in a blanket, was found lying on the floor near a table on which there was a glass and a bottle, thought to have contained poison.

Pfeiffer's bank book and a key to his safety deposit box were also on the table, along with a note directing Pfeiffer's brother, Edward, to take charge of his affairs.

Pfeiffer, a Spanish-American War veteran, was unmarried. According to members of the family, he had been dependent recently.

FLYING PROGRESS IN 1928 GREATEST SINCE FIRST YEAR

National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics Reviews Advance in Report Given to Congress.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Forecasting the use of all-metal airplanes and the day when "the unskilled owner-pilot who now drives his own car" will fly a plane, the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, in its fourteenth annual report, submitted by President Coolidge to Congress today, analyzed the advance made this year in aviation.

In forwarding the report President Coolidge commented on "the amazing development" of aviation since the Wright brothers made their first flight near Kitty Hawk,
N. C., a quarter of a century ago.

"During the year 1928," said the report, which was transmitted to the President by Dr. Joseph S.
Ames, chairman of the Advisory Committee, "greater progress was made than in any single year since the first successful flight of man in a power-driven heavier-than-air flying machine."

Not only has this twenty-fifth anniversary year marked the establishment without Government subsidies of American transcontinental all-air and airplane-railroad services for mail, passengers and express, the report states, but it has seen a 100 per cent increase in airplane production for private ownership, a 50 per cent reduction in air mail postage rates and the greatest forward strides yet made in the study of aviation's pre-eminent problem—safety.

Safety and Efficiency Sought.
The report said that safety in flight and efficiency in operation, the two factors of greatest importance to both commercial and military aviation, have been the chief objects of research the last year, both through experiment at Langley Memorial Laboratory near Langley Field, Va., and through collaboration with aviation experts of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

The three major dangers that threaten the aviator's safety, spinning, stalling and ice formation on a plane, were investigated in the wind tunnels at the Langley Laboratories, the last named in a special six-inch tunnel with a refrigerating apparatus.

The development of "nonspinning wings or wing systems" is the subject of a series of pressure distribution tests still in progress. The prevention of accidental stalls, both in landing and taking off is expected from experiments to develop a wing with a "flat-top lift curve"—that is, a wing that by a combination of slot and flap devices can ascend at a steeper angle without disturbing the smooth air flow over its upper surface. Much stalling is caused by this interruption of air flow, rather than by motor trouble.

Landing Made Easier.
Achievement of control and stability at low speeds, the next major safety problem, has been advanced by a study of "trailing edge flaps" and easier and safer landings have been facilitated by development of rubber or hydraulic shock absorbers for landing gear and lighter landing floats for hydroplanes, the report declared.

Development of a cowl or cover for radial, air-cooled airplane engines which would cut down air resistance without affecting the cooling of the cylinders was given considerable emphasis in the report as an outstanding aid to mechanical efficiency. In connection with this, propeller interference and the "drag" of various parts of the motor have been analyzed in the committee's laboratories. This study alone, the committee felt, "will repay the cost of the propeller research tunnel many times."

One of the most notable events of the year in airplane development was reported to be the perfection of the first successful fuel-injection engine burning a heavy oil instead of gasoline.

The tendency in American airplane design, the report stated, is toward cheaper engines, mono-planes for commercial use and bi-planes for individual owners, with the development of interchangeable landing wheels, floats and skis for land, water or snow. The use of several motors was recommended for commercial planes, but the placing of motors well above the wings, as in many European craft, was not foreseen in American construction.

Says All-Metal May Be Cheaper.
"With increasing production," the report predicted, "the all-metal, or nearly all-metal airplane may ultimately be cheaper than the part-metal part-wood one."

In the field of lighter-than-air craft, it was said that "the results of the pressure, distribution, speed and acceleration tests on the Los Angeles have been worked up and will soon be ready for publication."

A large number of other subjects were considered in the report, among them, the committee's cooperation with civilian and governmental aeronautical institutions, both American and foreign, its relations with the aircraft industry, its further researches, such as those for the standardization of aircraft reports and air navigation, and its assistance to the aeronautical patents and design board. It reported examination of 2200 letters relating to inventions, of which only about 200 were passed on to the board, and only one was recommended.

The committee's expenditure for the year was reported as $529,144, somewhat less than its congressional appropriation. The unveiling of the committee's memorial to the Wright brothers on Kill Devil Hill, near Kitty Hawk, N. C., planned for Dec. 17 and also appropriated for by the last Congress, was cited as a fitting notice both of the coming international civil aeronautics conference to be held in Washington and of the elapse of the first quarter-century of man's flight.

JUDGES WANT $467,700 TO FINISH COURTHOUSE

City Urged to Furnish Amount
So Quarters May Be Occupied Soon.

A delegation of the Circuit Judges, who want the city to find $467,700 for completion of the quarters for the Circuit Court, St. Louis Court of Appeals and Law Library in the new Civil Court-house, as soon as possible, met the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, comprising the Mayor, Comptroller and president of the Board of Aldermen, at City Hall today.

The Board promised to study the situation at its regular meeting tomorrow, to see if a temporary advance could be made from municipal revenue, although a $1,000,000 additional bond issue is regarded as necessary for the project. The 1923 issue provided $4,000,000 for it, and recently the Judges were told by President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service that an advance of $175,000 from municipal revenue would finish the building. Monday, however, Kinsey reported that at least $315,662 more would be needed, in addition to the $4,000,000.

Judges present today, who related that the old Courthouse is becoming unsuitable, as well as otherwise unsuitable, were Calhoun, Killoren, Hall, Falkenhauer, Peary and Rutledge. They said plaster had fallen in one courtroom recently, endangering citizens present. They urged the Board of Estimate to increase its promise of $175,000 advance by $292,700, to make $467,700—the essential part of the $315,662 for finishing the more urgently required work. The $175,000 has not yet been appropriated.

Doubts He Has Authority. Comptroller Nolte said at the conference today that no money was available for an advance and that he did not think he had the legal authority to make one, anyway. Judge Killoren replied that the principle was the same, whether $175,000 or $467,000 was advanced. To the Comptroller's said that Kinsey had misled him by saying $175,000 would suffice completing the courts and Law Library.

"I thought I was justified in offering to advance that much," he said, "but I don't feel I can take the burden of advancing almost $500,000."

"You are right," Judge Calhoun told the Comptroller, "we were misled, too. Kinsey told us $175,000 would do."

Nolte advocated getting the necessary fund all at once by submitting a $1,000,000 bond issue at the April election. He added the explanation that when he had offered the $175,000 advance, the city was anticipating the sale of its 16,270 shares of Public Service stock, but that only 400 shares had been sold, for $33,000.

Mayor Says He Was Misled. Mayor Miller declared he was misled, as he had been given to understand $175,000 was enough. He and President Noun of the Board of Aldermen both said they favored an advance to satisfy the Judges if it could be made legally.

"We can't set one up on the books unless the money is available," Nolte rejoined, "and it's not available."

The Comptroller pointed out that municipal appropriations were $2,300,000 greater this year than last, and there was discussion of the fact that the city had been forced to provide $2,500,000 from municipal revenue for the new Police Headquarters, since it must meet police budgets without question.

$250,000 EAST SIDE FLOOD PUMPING SYSTEM PLANNED

Two Stations Near Cahokia Proposed; Bids to Be Asked for Next Week.

Plans for the construction of a $250,000 pumping system to cope with the flood danger when the Mississippi River is at a high stage were discussed yesterday at a meeting of the board of trustees of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District.

The system will consist of two stations at the south end of the district, near Cahokia. Bids specifying plants powered both by electricity and Diesel oil engines will be asked for next week.

John D. Johns was elected president of the board for the third successive year. One new member, Seth K. Cherrington, was elected on the board, the other three having been named last month.

FOUR BURN TO DEATH IN AUTO

Thought to Have Been Overcome by Monoxide Gas Before Fire. By the Associated Press.

SCOTT'S BLUFF, Neb., Dec. 6.—Sitting upright in their automobile, four Mexican beet field workers were found burned to death a mile west of McGrew, Neb., yesterday. It was thought the four had been overcome by monoxide gas before the car caught fire. There were no marks of violence about the bodies or any indications of a struggle, Deputy Sheriff A. W. Raymond said. No inquest will be held. The four were: Pedro Gonzalez, Martin Morales, his 12-year-old son, Pedro, and M. Cortez.

HOOVER LEAVES PERU FOR CHILE; DUE THERE DEC. 10

President-Elect Will Land at Antofagasta, Seaport of Valparaiso, and Motor to Santiago.

PERUVIAN CROWDS CHEER AMERICAN

President Leguia Declares Visit Will Promote Better Understanding Between the Two Countries.

By the Associated Press. U. S. S. MARYLAND, on way to Antofagasta, Chile, Dec. 6.—President-elect Hoover today resumed his good-will voyage along the west coast of South America with Antofagasta, Chile, as his next stopping place. He is due at Antofagasta, Dec. 10.

Hoover felt that he had been personally aided for his work as President of the United States by conferences he had with President Leguia of Peru, and by contact with other officials. He was convinced that the United States and Peru have the same aspirations toward promoting Pan-Americanism. He thought that the visit had been helpful in cementing the friendly relations which have existed since the foundation of the two republics.

Hoover Pleased Over Welcome. Hoover especially was impressed with the cordiality of his welcome by the Peruvians, who gave him a hearty greeting throughout the 14 hours he was on the soil of one of the oldest countries in the Western Hemisphere. Crowds waited for hours in front of the American Embassy and presidential palace at Lima for his appearance. They waited for blocks following the President-elect as he drove twice to the presidential palace—once to greet the President Leguia at midday and again to attend a dinner and reception at night. Hoover also was able to be present at the reception to the American Society at the Country Club and by American engineers at the Engineers' Club.

Pan-Americanism emerged from the World War a reality, instead of an ideal, President Leguia said in his formal speech of welcome to Hoover. Pan-Americanism, the President said, will be the creed of the future, stripped of selfish tendencies which might limit it and of any absurd broadening harmful to its prestige.

Praises Hoover's War Work. President Leguia spoke glowingly of Hoover's work in the World War period. He expressed the belief that all America would benefit from the President-elect's South American tour.

"Nature's volcanic forces," he said, "which caused the American continent to erupt from the bottom of the ocean; the strife for the cause of liberty materializing under the victorious flags of Washington and Bolivar; and the inspired Monroe's challenge to the slave-driving powers of the earth, are the chief motives of American union."

"Neither the distrust and jealous suspicions of those who condemn the healthy vigor and exuberant energy of youth, nor the clamorous outcry of those who would contend with the Colossus of the North for his role of leader, will prevail against this union, not even under the cloak of the transformation of the Monroe doctrine in favor of intervention, when in reality the former has been and continues to be the bulwark of our liberty and a guarantee of our capacity to develop the characteristics of our culture."

After remarking that criticism of Pan-Americanism could only help it by subjecting it to a "cleansing process," President Leguia said:

"Your visit, Mr. President, is an act of good will which will result in valuable consequences for the future of Pan-American Union. What we most value about your visit is that it brings us not a business man desirous of making lucrative investments, but the highest representative of the world's greatest democracy at almost the time of the solemn occasion in which by the will of your fellow countrymen you are about to scale heights of power unparalleled or unequalled in world's history."

The President told Hoover that he constituted the completion of Monroe's purpose.

"Monroe," he said, "proclaimed the personality of America in the midst of liberty, and you through your visit are going to warrant it in the midst of economic expansion."

When a union, the Peruvian President said, has been and will continue to be a bulwark of liberty for all the nations of the Western world. He added that the Hoover

Byrd Ships Driven Along By Fresh Wind; 685 Miles South of New Zealand

With Sails Well Filled, City of New York Keeps Up Easily With Eleanor Bolling, Which Is Towing It Southward.

By RUSSELL OWEN.
(Copyright, 1928, by St. Louis Post-Dispatch and New York Times.)

This story is published exclusively in St.
Louis in the Post-Dispatch, and in New York in the New York Times. It will appear only in the Post-Dispatch in this city.

ABOARD THE BARK CITY OF NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—By Wireless.
—The sky today is like a great inverted bowl of pearl gray, the horizon shutting in closely in a band of haze. Overhead the sun shines pale, surrounded by a circle colored like a faint rainbow. And underneath is this strange, narrow world of water, so small and circumscribed to our view, so vast in actual extent.

Our two ships are moving along over the high seas that break in lines of cold, swirling white and brilliant green where the light shines through the tips of the waves.

The sea is lumping unsteadily all the time, towering above the fast-rail till it seems that it would come aboard to drop tons on our decks, but the ship rises to it like one of the sea birds, lifting lazily as they watch us pass.

Making Seven Knots.

Fortunately the wind is a fair easter and with most of her canvas set the City of New York is keeping up with the Eleanor Bolling easily, and making more than seven knots, sometimes nearly eight.

After every dizzy rise of the stern till the ship seems to be sliding down foam-flecked hills it lifts again until bowsprit points against the sky and rolls slowly and gracefully to the top and over.

Most every one has his sea legs now and is at least a deck and the motion is not unpleasant, so easily does the City of New York ride.

No expedition was ever more fortunate in its weather, for although this wind may keep on rising and make things unpleasant, the weather so far has been favorable and we are going south faster than we could have had any reason to hope.

Already we are far south of most of the world. The latitude of New Zealand is far north of us. So is that of Cape Horn and even the Georgian Islands. Most of the world is on top now. Yet there is a long way to go before the barrier is reached.

Wheel Trickery on Tow.

It is a trickery on a sailing ship in full sail in tow of a steamship, and every once in a while it requires skillful jockeying to keep the vessels in line.
Byrd's ship has been clear over like a hawk by the men at the wheel, and the wheel also bucks like a broncho occasionally. This afternoon it nearly threw E. J. De-mas and each time clear over to the other side of the deck.

During the morning the City of New York swung off to one side for a time before it could be checked, and in a few minutes the Eleanor Bolling stretched between the two ships so checked the Eleanor Bolling that she was slowed up to a point where the City of New York hauled alongside. The Eleanor Bolling could not pull ahead and the City of New York, with all sails set, could not be checked immediately.

As soon as possible the sails were taken in and then the City of New York dropped back to her normal position again; but it was a rather anxious moment on both ships because of the innumerable benefit to this spirit of Pan-American-ism.

Hoover in responding stressed the importance of improved aerial communications between South America and the United States. He said his visit was born of the hope and aspiration that it could further reinforce the structure of peace, friendship and unity of ideals between these republics.

Hopes to Serve.

Hoover's speech, in full, follows:
"I have come for other purposes than recreation or to receive personal satisfaction of travel. I have had the hope and the aspiration that I could serve in some way to further reinforce the structure of peace and friendship, the unity of ideas which have remained unbroken since the birth of our republics. I have thought that I could better prepare myself for the task by a widened knowledge of the men and problems of our sister republics."

"Your excellency's letter of welcome transmitted to Guayaquil by the initial flight of the new Peruvian air mail service carries a larger significance than even its own generous terms of welcome. Its manner of transmission signifies the possibility of one of the most important steps in progress of our relations. The amazing development of practical commercial aviation in your different countries in the past 12 months removes all doubt of its practicality as routine service of transportation."

"Mr. President, it is impossible to estimate the important consequences of this revolution in com-

ARGENTINA'S TRADE WITH U. S. SHOWS 13 PCT. GAIN

Imported Nearly Twice As Much
From This Country As It Sold Here.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Last year America sold Argentina 13.4 per cent more goods than in 1927.
There will be a similar gain in 1928. Argentina, however, bought from the United States nearly twice as much as it sold. United States imports amounted to $189,048,000; exports were $139,862,000.

There are certain fundamental reasons for that, which may be summarized in the fact that Argentina's salable commodities are not, to a major extent, things that are needed in this country. The reverse is true as far as the United States is concerned.

The biggest gains in American exports to Argentina were in automobile tires, cotton engines and parts, machinery, automobiles and pumps.

Argentina is a pastoral country. It exports mostly meat and dairy products, wheat, corn, hides and wool.

There is a feeling in Argentina that the trade balance with the United States should be on a more even basis, and there has been some talk of "trade barriers."

Analysis, however, shows that the United States charges lower duties on Argentine goods than Argentina does on United States goods.

R. A. GIVEN AUGUSTUS JOHN AND WILLIAM REID DICK

Former Has Never Shown Any of His Paintings at British Academy's Exhibitions.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 6.—William Reid Dick and Augustus John have been elected to the Royal Academy. Dick is an artist in bronze, having executed the eagle on the Royal Air Force memorial on the embankment and the lion on the Menin Gate at Ypres. The election of Augustus John, portrait painter, is expected to cause much comment in art circles, since he has never sent anything to the academy's annual exhibition.

The election of John recalls the lively passages between the portrait painter and the late Lord Lehrhulme, eight years ago. John painted a picture of the trade magistrate and Lord Lehrhulme chose to cut out the head with the intention of placing it in his safe, in which there was not room for the whole canvas. By mistake the remainder of the picture was sent to the academy and was demonstrated the fact that they are safer
and happier without armaments
and without problems which inevitably go with them.

HAUGEN DOUBTS THIS SESSION WILL DO MUCH FOR FARMERS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Chairman Haugen of the House Agriculture committee today said after a meeting of his committee, that there was very grave doubt as to the possibility of passing an adequate farm relief bill at this session of Congress.

Haugen, discussing the bill introduced several days ago by Senator McNary, (Rep.), Oregon, afterward expressed the opinion that the measure did not go far enough to make the tariff effective.

It is without the equalization fee, which characterized the twice voted McNary-Haugen bill.

Ill Health Causes Delaware Legis-

WILMINGTON, Del., Dec. 6.—
United States Senator T. Coleman du Pont, who has been ill for a long time, has resigned his seat.
The resignation was made public yesterday by Gov. Robinson who said he had received a copy of the Senator's letter to Vice President Davis.

Senator du Pont last year was operated on for a serious ailment in the throat. An artificial larynx was devised, it was said, which enabled the Senator to talk.

Berger Bill Against Ku Klux Klan

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The Democratic House of Representatives today passed a bill to amend the Ku Klux Klan act of 1924. The bill would make it a crime for any person to organize or assist in the organization of a Ku Klux Klan, or to participate in the activities of such an organization.
The bill also would make it a crime for any person to publish or distribute any material containing threats or incitements to violence against any person or group of persons on the basis of race or color.

CANADA AND U. S. LINE 'DIVIDES BUT UNITES' NATIONS

Chamberlain Sees Unfortified Frontier as Symbol of Union of Empire and America.

SENTIMENT VOICED AT PILGRIMS' DINNER

England Will Follow Senate on Kellogg Pact — Houghton Points to Demonstration of Amity.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 6.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, believes that the unfortified frontier between the United States and Canada, represents not only a line "which divides only to unite" Canada and the United States, but stands in a similar relation between the whole British Empire and America.

Speaking at a dinner of the Pilgrims' Society to celebrate the signing of the Kellogg-Briand pact renouncing war, Sir Austen said the very existence of that treaty depended upon the decision of the American Senate with regard to ratification. He added that no government would more quickly follow American action than the government of Great Britain. Sir Austen followed Ambassador Houghton, and evoked prolonged cheers when he seized upon the theme of the American Ambassador's speech to make his declaration concerning the unfortified frontier.

Houghton told the guests that this frontier was proof sufficient to the world that two peoples can live side by side not armed against each other. He assured Great Britain and Europe that Americans and other people of the New World were essentially peace-loving.

The fact that two peoples have been able to live side by side in mutual safety and contentment cannot be wholly without significance to the rest of the world," he said. "Canadians and the people of the United States have demonstrated the fact that they are safer
and happier without armaments
and without problems which inevitably go with them."

TORRENTIAL RAINS AND FLOODS IN SMYRNA

Loss of Life and Much Damage Reported—Many Persons Homeless.

By the Associated Press.
PERA, Turkey, Dec. 6.—Widespread devastation, with a loss of life not yet estimated, has been caused in Smyrna by floods which followed torrential rains.

The lower part of the city, sometimes called the "unfortunate city of Asia Minor," was reported today to be submerged to a depth of five feet. Many houses collapsed and others were washed away, the inhabitants being forced to take refuge on roofs and in trees.

A number of people also are thought to be running short in Kabul. Drivers, particularly Hindus, are refusing to leave on the perious journey to Peshawar. The dispatch relates that the British mail was held up and forced to return to Kabul.

Afghan officials were reported to be fleeing with their families toward Peshawar for safety from the raiding rebel tribes. Determined efforts have been made by the rebels to halt all traffic on the roads, and Kabul is virtually cut off.

To Address Medical Fraternity.
Ellis P. Lynde, dean of the University of Minnesota Medical School, will address the Alpha Omega Alpha medical fraternity in the medical school auditorium of St. Louis University, at 8 o'clock tonight.

PRINCESS MARIA LOUISE OF ORLEANS TO WED AMERICAN

Her Parents Cousins of King
George; Betrothed to W. F.
Kingsland Jr.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 6.—Announcement has been made of the engagement of Princess Maria Louise of Orleans to W. F. Kingsland Jr., son of Walter F. Kingsland of New York.

The announcement has aroused much interest in social circles. The Duke and Duchess of Vendome, parents of the Princess, are both cousins of King George and visit England annually.

Up to a year or two ago the Duke and Duchess owned Belmont, a beautiful house on Wimbledon Common, in which were stored during the days of the French Revolution valuable treasures belonging to the French nobility.

AFGHAN KING AND ENEMY PUT PRICE ON EACH OTHER'S HEAD

Capital Virtually Cut Off by Rebellious Tribes, Who Try to Halt
All Traffic.

LONDON, Dec. 6.—A special to the London Evening News from Lahore, Punjab, India, today says that King Amanullah of Afghanistan and Bacha Saku, the son of a water carrier, who is leading a rebellion, has each put a price on the other's head. Bacha Saku organized an attack by rebel tribes on Jalalabad. Offers of a large reward for his dead body were posted along the Kabul road. In

MAYOR INDORSES COMPREHENSIVE NEW BOND ISSUE

Favors Post-Dispatch Suggestion That Program of Needed Improvements Be Submitted to Voters.

SEVERAL PROJECTS AWAITING FUNDS

Miller Feels That Bond Proposition Should Not Come Up at Regular City Election, However.

Following publication in yesterday's Post-Dispatch of an editorial urging the city authorities to submit a comprehensive bond issue for a variety of needed improvements to the voters, Mayor Miller announced he favored the idea and was taking steps to consult the public as to the desirability of various projects.

The approved efforts to gain public realization of the needs involved and concurred with the Post-Dispatch editorial suggestion that it was wise to undertake a thorough program, along the lines of that followed successfully in 1923, rather than to submit items piecemeal.

The 1923 issue, for 20 items totalling $37,372,500, was adopted after an intensive educational campaign, and the community has seen numerous projects undertaken, with others under way.

Additional needs have developed, as has been pointed out from time to time. The Civil Courthouse, for which $4,000,000 was provided in 1923, will cost nearly $1,000,000 more to make it adequate, and it may be necessary to submit an item for this at the April municipal election. The $2,000,000 airport bond issue voted last August was knocked out on a technicality by the Supreme Court of Missouri, and unless the Court reverses its self on a rehearing, this item likely will be resubmitted in April.

How the Mayor and other city officials feel that it would be best not to lay the comprehensive bond program before the people at the same time a Mayor, Comptroller and 14 Aldermen will be elected, in April. The issues might become mixed, endangering success of the bonds. Mayor Miller expects to oppose former Mayor Kiel for the Republican nomination at the March primary. The 1923 issue was voted while Kiel was in office.

The number and size of items to be submitted in a complete bond program remains to be determined.
The city has the right to issue in excess of $42,000,000 more in bonds, not counting the airport item.

"No doubt," said Mayor Miller,
"we need more money to complete the plans for some items under the 1923 issue. There is

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the public welfare, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

West Belle School.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I SUBMIT an open letter to the Board of Education:

You are probably too busy to read or listen to the complaint of an humble parent whose child is going blind trying to read in the portables of the West Belle School on days like this without light, but I feel that I owe a duty to my child to again call your attention and that of the public to this condition, as it seems that all concerted effort to have our children given proper consideration in this district has failed.

It would seem unthinkable that a school board of human beings would refuse to provide light by which to teach lower animals, to say nothing of our children, yet they are without light and have been since returning to the district following the tornado; this notwithstanding the law of equal facilities, your oaths of office and repeated promises to us to the contrary.

J. H. ROBERTS.

"Try Being a Booster."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WHY is it that your editor cannot take the voice of the people with good grace? The American people have said a number of times that they wanted prohibition and the majority of them are living up to what they have voted for.

Such papers as yours, with the editorials and cartoons (such as appeared in the Dec. 4 issue) are what is making this country what it is.

Try being a booster and quit being a knacker and see how much better things will go. I have noticed where your circulation is on the increase; well, for the life of me I cannot see how that is unless there are plenty more fools like myself that take the lesser of two evils.

Is Man Overworking Nature?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE editor of one of your esteemed contemporaries wonders why nature continues to give violent storms and eruptions, and why it doesn't settle down to normalcy. He says humanity has done nothing to excite it.

How can nature settle down to normalcy under present frenzied conditions? Nature continues to make hurricanes in its desperate effort to try to purify the atmosphere of carbon monoxide pumped into it by automobiles throwing off their deadly exhaust continuously, both on terra firma and in the upper air currents by airplanes.

Nature has, up to a period of a few recent years, successfully clarified earth's atmosphere, but now humanity has abused it to such an extent that nature is forced to resort to extremes hitherto unknown and unnecessary.

During the World War the atmosphere was charged with violent explosives and noxious gases, and rent by violent explosions; shaken as it has never been known before by mankind, rent and frazzled by vile conditions year after year. Violence of artillery is still going on more or less in various spots not yet calmed down. We do not even allow the order of the earth to rest. We drill and drill and drill in an effort to drain all the inert lakes of fuel oil it contains, leaving huge pockets of air and often water in their place.

I WANTA KNOW.

The Osteopathic Board.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

YOUR editorial "Missouri Needs Leadership," published on Nov. 25, has only now come to my attention.

I agree most heartily that Missouri as well as other states, needs a thorough house cleaning and a sane system of governmental agencies to give better service and to cost the taxpayers less.

I do not agree, however, that the presence in the State of a Board of Osteopathic Examiners contributes to the increase in the tax burden.

The Board of Osteopathic Examiners, as the Missouri office of the Associated Press explained for me some two months ago, has been established to regulate the practice of osteopathy for the benefit of the citizens of Missouri, and it is paid for by the osteopathic physicians who take the examination. Sums appropriated and paid out of the treasury do not exceed the fees received by the board and paid into the treasury.

This board, therefore, does not add a cent to the tax burdens of the State. AMERICAN OSTEOPATHIC ASSOCIATION.

Missouri's Success.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE very great probabilities are that Mussolini's power, practicality and success are due to the fact that he has been able to carry a great deal of the Corporal into the Prime Minister. The "man" has not all been trained out by a long line of "ancestors" trained in the idea that the past can be confused with the present. This should be a hint to the various ministers and representatives at the coming peace conference in Washington not to allow their "diplomatic training" to obliterate all of their common sense.

WATERWAY POSSIBILITIES.

Secretary of War Davis, in an address before the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, gave a bright picture of the progress of flood relief and expanding transportation on the Mississippi and its tributaries.

Secretary Davis calls attention to the encouraging results of the operation of the Federal barge line in the past nine months. Net earnings of $245,000 practically assure the success of that experiment and give promise of large possibilities in the future.

He declares that the vigor with which the work is being done on the lower Mississippi, the Ohio and the Illinois insures the completion of the east and west trunk lines of the Mississippi system, and the trunk lines south from the Twin Cities and Chicago, in a short time. The Mississippi system is being extended by the intracoastal waterways in Louisiana and Texas, which will soon be in process of development.

Mr. Davis promised to co-ordinate development not only for navigation, but for flood control, irrigation, reclamation and utilization of power.

One thing Mr. Davis said that will cheer the shippers of the valley was that the Government expected under the Denison act to work out an equitable settlement with the railroads for rail and river rates, by co-operation if possible, by compulsion if necessary. Joint rail and river rates are essential to the success and to the largest advantage of river transportation. The estimate of a saving of $500,000,000 in freight rates annually on domestic commerce through the use of waterways indicates what a potential influence water transportation is on freight rates, and how beneficial it is to shippers.

The long, hard struggle to demonstrate the value of waterways to the country is bearing profitable fruit. But the beneficial potentialities of river improvement and waterway transportation have scarcely been touched. It is evident that the Federal Government is beginning to realize them. Its continued co-operation will bring rich results.

WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

When Dr. Frank L. Wright, head of the department of education at Washington University, asked children of various ages what they disliked in their parents and asked parents what they disliked in each other, he was not seeking a new and universal panacea for all the ills that disturb family relations. Nor did he find one, for what psychologist would dare to offer the same salve to the child who complains, "Mother won't buy me an electric train," and the one who soberly writes, "Father drinks a lot; mother is dirty."

Dr. Wright modestly recommends the habit of "sharing," for which he claims no laurels as the discoverer of a new code. The gospel of "sharing" was preached 19 centuries ago and has come down to us as the Golden Rule.

However, Dr. Wright brings out a point of greatest importance, not usually mentioned, when he calls attention to the fact that children are human beings, not senseless clods, to be rebuked as "slow pokes" and "dumb bells." And he asks: "What would you do if another adult addressed you in the manner in which you sometimes address your children?" Well, what would you do?

EVACUATION OF THE RHINELAND.

In response to a question in the British House of Commons, Sir Austen Chamberlain claimed that Germany had no legal right to demand that allied troops be removed from the Rhineland on the ground that it had given guarantees of compliance with the Versailles treaty. The point was swiftly disputed in a German semi-official statement. This statement cited a letter dated June 17, 1919, signed by Clemenceau, Lloyd George and Wilson, which stated that the allies did not contemplate occupation of the Rhineland until reparations obligations were completely fulfilled; they felt that before the 15-year term of occupation had expired Germany would be compelled to give necessary guarantees of fulfillment.

On Sept. 1 of this year the preliminary stages of the Dawes plan had been successfully performed by Germany, and the final phase of the plan got under way. It was a propitious time to suggest evacuation—a condition very irksome to the German people—and its statesmen did so. Ever since France and Great Britain have given a remarkable exhibition of dodging and sidestepping. France especially seems intent to force Germany to purchase evacuation, a policy that Lloyd George believes to savor of blackmail.

Apparently it remains for public opinion to assert itself and to obtain for Germany the justice that France and Great Britain have denied it. Lloyd George, who should be an authority on the question, claims that Germany has every right, legal and otherwise, to demand evacuation. He is making a valiant fight to induce Great Britain, as he puts it, to fulfill his pledged word. Surely both Great Britain and France have been driven from one position to another until they have little ground to stand upon. The Germans, meanwhile, are standing firm in their resolution to resist any attempt to make concessions under pressure.

A Pennsylvania woman who has collected 2000 four-leaf clovers over a period of years, states that 1500 of them were found during the past year, which corroborates President Coolidge's glowing description of the past twelvemonth.

PERILS OF BUSSING.

To buss in the old days was to kiss, which had its perils then as now. No more so, however, than to buss with one's in our own time, as illustrated by what happened this week out at the St. Charles and Fee Fee roads.

Usually almost anyone driving into this trunk highway from the Fee Fee would first stop and look both ways for other traffic. Not so the driver who emerged from the Fee Fee the other day. He neither stopped nor looked, with the result that a huge bus, turning off to avoid him, went through the side of Brannery's grocery store and at last stopped entirely within the store, passengers and all. The only injuries to anyone were those to a few people in the store who were struck by flying glass, soda crackers, canned goods, etc. The automobile driver who caused the wreck escaped, of course, without a scratch.

Under the new bond issue the St. Charles road will be widened from St. Louis out to the Missouri River from 18 to probably 40 feet. However, that will not be wide enough to do away with the perils of bussing in a time when people will drive out on boulevards and trunk lines without stopping, any more than the strictures of society centuries ago made another kind of bussing as safe as it might have been.

McNARY MINUS HAUGEN.

In the celebrated McNary-Haugen bill, twice vetoed by Mr. Coolidge, the despised equalization fee probably belonged to Congressman Haugen.

At any rate, Senator McNary has introduced an altogether new farm relief bill at the short session of Congress, and it leaves the equalization fee out. What the old plan proposed to do by compulsion the new bill proposes to do by co-operation. It will organize a farm board, furnish it with $300,000,000, and ask the farmers to co-operate with it in withholding crop surpluses from the market. Beyond that it proposes to introduce price insurance, something new in the long debate on the question of farm relief. Price insurance is described as that which will enable a co-operative association to make greater advances to its members on delivery of their commodity, which sounds like something Gov. Smith may thank his stars he did not advocate.

So it is what is left of the McNary-Haugen bill after the stirring debate before the country that is now before the Senate. Truth to tell, it sounds almost like pure socialism, of which so many scathing things were said during the presidential campaign. If the Government is going to furnish the money with which to keep surplus crops off the market, as well as the money with which to insure prices of farm products, it is going to get itself in for a good deal of Carl Marx's book, if not most of it.

However, that is not the great desideratum. What the farmers will want to know, indeed what the country will want to know, is whether it will actually relieve agriculture. If it does, a good many people, particularly students of history, will be greatly surprised. Farm relief has been debated since the time of the Gracchi. It has never been accomplished anywhere. If Mr. Hoover and Congress can actually solve a problem of such long standing and so many paternal perplexities they deserve to rank in history with Oedipus, who answered the famous riddle of the Sphinx.

As for ourselves, we can only wish Mr. Hoover and his co-believers good luck. We have not the slightest faith in it. There is no other ignis fatuus like that which promises economic equality between an industrial and an agricultural community. It is against the experience of humankind, an inevitable malady that has plagued the body politic since the time of the Great Khan. We can withdraw our paternalism from industry and approximate such an equality, but we cannot lift the farmer to the level of the industrialist.

It is such stuff as dreams are made on—and the promises of politicians.

MUSSOLINI'S SUPREME LAWS.

Mussolini has found an easy solution of the back-to-the-farm problem. It is the strong arm. He intends to keep the boys on the farm by force. He has introduced a law empowering Prefects and Provincial Councils to enact ordinances forbidding emigration from the farm to the city. Under the law penalties as severe as 90 days in jail and $100 fines may be imposed for violation of the ordinance of Prefects or Questors.

Of course, economic laws may work contrary to Duce's laws. The farm may be unproductive. The boys may not be able to make a living on the farm. But what are economic laws to Mussolini? He is the supreme law giver of Italy.

This law is a throw-back to the old villainage laws of Feudalism.

A KID SISTER WRITES AN EPITAPH.

"He was a hero in my eyes and I hope you will have the same opinion of him." * * *

Thus Jane Abchal, 14, writes to the Post-Dispatch in defense of her brother.

Sam Abchal was 21 when he died. His body was found one morning in October beside a road on the East Side, a bullet wound in the head. In the yard of a roadside, several miles away stood Sam's Chrysler roadster, dripping with the night's moisture. On the floor, inside the roadhouse, amid the signs of a hurried desertion, an empty shell told the story of Sam Abchal's end. He had been "bumped off" in the roadhouse, and dumped along the road. Sam's associates were jerky but hale fellows, silk-shirted, who always had a plausible reason ready when they wanted Sam to go out with them. Two of them took him away the day before he was murdered. Sam was arrested 74 times, but never convicted. He ran with a mob, and that was enough for the police. When something happened, Sam was "wanted."

Jane Abchal wants people to know that Sam was a generous brother and a sympathizer with the impoverished and needy, and no one would deny her this comfort. There is nothing in the record to show that he ever harmed anyone. His chief weakness seems to have been his choice of companions. Jane also speaks for her five brothers and sisters who are trying to live down the stigma that unjustly attaches to the family of one characterized as a "gangster." But she serves notice that he is not ashamed of him and that he is a hero in her eyes, and for that statement the world must applaud her. Surely, too, this devotion of a "kid sister" and her bold public avowal of it will go far to erase whatever stain rests on the family name as the result of the idolized "big brother's" wayward associations. Probably had Sam been as thoughtful a "big brother" as Jane was a devoted "kid sister," a public defense of him would not be necessary.

If Justice of the Peace Fiedler of Maplewood, who weighs 440 pounds, ever achieves the dignity of the Circuit bench, it will be worth the trip to Clayton to see him quash a motion.

"UNDERTHINGS" FOR MEN.

Among the new colors, says a fashion item, are creme de menthe, a delicate light emerald; creme Yvette, a violet hue; chardreuse, a golden yellow tinged with green; apricotine, a peach beige and orange curacao, a sparkling orange.

The item doesn't state whether it speaks of ladies' gowns or men's underwear. If the latter, it means that the rough burlap B.V.D.'s we have worn in penitential mood throughout the present horrible era of awning stripes, have been endured in vain, and things are going from bad to worse.

Well, we will wait until they start calling them "men's dainty underthings" and then for a howling dash down Olive street in a peach beige negligee trimmed with creme Yvette fur, and a cool plunge into the river.

Palo Alto is asked to change its name to Hoover, but would that not be a more suitable suggestion for West Branch, which has made itself what might be called a professional home town?

LOOKING BACK TOWARD THE CITY HALL.

The Popularity of Football

It may be explained by two main factors: expertness in the sport is no longer confined to a few institutions, but teams in all parts of the country have shown equal proficiency; the numbering of players, publishing of statistics, etc., has given the public a better acquaintance with the game.

From the Journal "New York"

IN popular interest college baseball has never been able to compete with professional baseball. College football, on the other hand, is more than holding its own with the professional football leagues that have sprung up. Baseball among the colleges has been dependent for its audiences mainly upon the students and alumni of the institution governed. But with college football it is hardly doubtful that a contest between two closely matched, outstanding teams would draw a capacity crowd, even without counting upon the alumni. Witness the Army-Notre Dame game, which attracted an enormous general public.

The growing general interest in college football has several explanations. For one thing, expertness in the sport is no longer confined to a few institutions, as the personnel of the mythical all-American team in recent years has amply shown. East and West, North and South have displayed almost equal proficiency in turning out champion products. Colleges in all parts of the country have so increased in size that a good material is to be had everywhere. This, naturally, has made one region as confident as another that its young men have the brawn and the brain to stand up against all comers, and the intersectional games that are now so frequent furnish the interesting tests.

In recent years there has been a change. The numbering of the player was the first step to his advantage. With this move, the newspaper accounts became more accurate and the work of individual players was singled out more sharply. The unattached fan, by close attention to the papers, enriched and broadened his background. He found that the description of games throughout the country. In the past year or two an attempt has been made to provide the statistical machinery. The well-informed fan now knows, week by week, the highest point scorers in the country, the average yardage gained by brilliant backs, points made by touchdowns, drop-kicks, by placement, etc. Football is getting on its feet, and statistics, which to date are scraps and without much significance, will soon equal in bulk and scope those which help to make professional baseball the delight of all classes of people.

Other factors enter into the ever-increasing general impression attached to college football. The two here mentioned are enough to serve as illustrations and to confirm the fact—if it needs confirmation—that under modern conditions college football has a hold on the general public in all parts of the country such as it never had before.

What is to be done about this situation? Is it to be viewed with alarm or noted with pride? Two or three years ago the alarm signal was run up. It was charged that the newspapers were giving altogether too much emphasis to football. Coaches complained that alumni would be satisfied with nothing but winning results. Others placed the blame squarely on athletic associations, which had contracted for new stadiums and then, in order to pay for them, put into operation a high-pressure salesmanship which, once under way, could not be headed off. Student representatives of some of the colleges met to deplore the commercializing of football and to urge that it should be brought back into consonance with college spirit. Proselyting among secondary schools again came up for criticism. The scholarships for promising athletes, with board and lodging paid for, were cited, as well as the lack of high scholarly standards in various institutions.

Nothing of great consequence resulted from all the discussion. It seemed to be the general opinion that football is a fine game which ought to be protected from attendant evils. Is its great popularity an evil? We hardly think so, except perhaps because of the effect upon stars. But, since football stars are fairly numerous in this big country of ours, that consideration, too, may be dismissed. The popularity of football we believe to be a wholesome sign. By these stirring spectacles an enormous public is given a taste of college spirit which it would get in no other way. The standard of sportsmanship is high, youth is on exhibition when mind and muscle best co-ordinate, and honest loyalty reigns. These are things to be prized, and they may be powerfully effective in fostering good taste and a good morale in the general public. When you stop to think about it, football games furnish the one opportunity for great masses of the people to come under the spell of the colleges. The popularity of the game should not be feared, it should be molded for the best interests of all.

The game itself has been made safe for democracy. Since it has been opened up, serious injuries have been less numerous and yet its Spartan character has been wisely preserved. Here one sees the might of one college opposed to the might of another college, with skill and courage the deciding factors. No formula could produce a game better calculated to draw upon the resources of youth. It is a glorious spectacle, and it is significant, too. We do not, of course, imply that all knowledge is of equal value—that knowledge of football equals knowledge obtained by truth seeking in many other fields. But the discipline of mind and body produced by conscientious practice of the game must be evident to all close observers and, in consequence, must make a favorable impression upon the audience.

Since the game, as now played before great crowds, is apparently here to stay, the manifest duty of college authorities is to employ the best coach available. This is necessary for two reasons: First, the coach, like any other teacher, is very largely responsible for the successes achieved. An ineffective coach, no less than an ineffective teacher, brings discredit to the college. Secondly, a coach has an unexcelled opportunity to make a lasting impression upon a large company of youth. His skill and character should be of the highest. His tenure should be secure after he has fully demonstrated that he is competent. Whether he should be a member of the faculty is debatable; that is a detail.

DETROIT'S PROSPECTS FOR 1929.

From the Detroit News.

HERE it is November, and the Tigers are already on the scent of next year's pennant. Stanley Harris, the new manager, has studied the situation, and has concluded that all the 1928 Tigers lacked was pitching, catching, hitting, fielding, base running, management and a horseshoe. Already he has started in to correct these deficiencies, beginning with the management.

Mr. Harris has begun well by dealing out lavish praise to many players. This tends to help confirm them in their good opinions of themselves. He reminds the world at large that Mr. Hellmuth is at his best in the odd-numbered years, and surely 1929 is an odd number. Besides, Hellmuth, Harris and Hoover all begin with an H, and Mr. Hoover will be in the White House when the season starts. But it must also be considered that Huggins begins with the same letter, and so does Hoyt.

So, considering all the dope, it looks as if next year would see a battle royal between the Tigers and the Yankees, with the Tiger prospects good if Mr. Harris can improve them in pitching, catching, hitting, fielding, base running, etc., and is favored by the breaks.

CONGRATULATING MR. LIGHTFOOT.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

M. D. LIGHTFOOT, chairman of the M. Constitutional Democratic National Committee, has issued an announcement that he will presently call a convention to deal with the reorganization of the Democratic party.

Perhaps you never heard of the Constitutional Democratic National Committee, which case you will be interested to learn that it admits that it delivered to Hoover 2,000,000 votes taken from the regular Democratic national ticket. So, having delivered 2,000,000, it assumes the right to reorganize the party.

Since 14,000,000 votes have already been cast for Al Smith, 50 per cent more than were given to Woodrow Wilson in 1916, and vastly more than ever were given to any other Democratic candidate, this announcement that the opponents of Smith constitute the real Democratic party is rather startling. For one anti-Smith Democrat to handle seven and a quarter Smith Democrats seems on the face of it to be a man's size job. However, whether he succeeds or not, Mr. Lightfoot is already due congratulations on one thing, namely, his nerve.

A WAY OF LAW ENFORCEMENT IN MISSOURI.

South Bend News.

TWO Federal prohibition officers arrested two girls, one 29 years old, the other 16, and took them to a caber near Clinton, Mo., on a balmy night in April. They took plenty of liquor along, and spent the night in drinking and carousing.

The State of Missouri indicted the two men for transportation of liquor and for giving it to the girls. The Federal authorities stepped into the case, as usual, dragged the two officers out of the State courts through the accustomed habeas corpus proceedings, and now sends an Assistant United States Attorney to act as chief of their defense counsel.

The public has never had a satisfactory answer to the question of how the Government may legally take away from the citizen the right to try offenses against their own laws. It does so. The Federal Government has usurped all of the State's sovereignty, and it has done so in behalf of criminals, crooks and murderers.

These are the things that disgust moderate men with the present method of liquor-law enforcement.

"Neutral Tinted Haps"

WINTER WORDS IN VARIOUS MOODS AND METERS. By Thomas Hardy. (Macmillan). "So far as I am aware," wrote Thomas Hardy in his introductory note for these last poems, "I have never before written a poem in which I have brought out a new volume of his verse on his birthday." The missing numeral was never supplied, but it is probable that the poet was thinking of 49, and that would have been a record indeed, considering that the poet in most men, even in most professional verse-writers, dies young.

"Winter Words" is right, for there is something suggesting the sharp pinch of bitter weather in all these poems, even when, for a moment, something of the genial mood of the fireside creeps into them. In the verses that follow, the poet's mood is a mixture of the gloom of the season and the cheer of the fireside. The outlook on "My Eighty-Sixth Birthday," the outlook that colors practically the whole volume is fully expressed:

Well, World, you have kept faith with me,
Kept faith with me;
Upon the whole you have proved to be Much as you said you were.
Since as a child I used to lie
Upon the leaze and watch the sky,
Never, I own, expected I
That life would all be fair.

"I do not promise overmuch, child; overmuch;
Just neutral-tinted haps and such."

You said to minds like mine,
Wise warning for your credit's sake:

Which I for one failed not to take,
And hence could stem such strain
And ache
As each year might assign.

"Just neutral-tinted haps and such"—the petty but none the less overwhelming ironies of obscure, everyday living—these are the substance of the volume. Now and then the age-worn poet remembers ancient moments of ecstasy, but only to sigh. In almost every utterance one feels him thinking: "Yes, I've lived many, many years and seen much, and what I've seen has made me long for unconcealment. It will be better not to be."

If I could but abide
As a tablet on a wall,
Or a hillock daisy-pied,
Or a picture in a hall,
And as nothing else at all.

"Neutral Tinted Haps"

WINTER WORDS IN VARIOUS MOODS AND METERS. By Thomas Hardy. (Macmillan). So far as I am aware," wrote Thomas Hardy in his introductory note for these last poems, "I have brought out a new volume of his verse on his birthday." The missing numeral was never supplied, but it is probable that the poet was thinking of 90, and that would have been a record indeed, considering that the poet in most men, even in most professional verse-writers, dies young.

"Winter Words" is right, for there is something suggesting the sharp pinch of bitter weather in all these poems, even when, for a moment, something of the genial mood of the fireside, creeps into them. In the verses entitled "He Never Expected Much, or A Consideration on My Eighty-Sixth Birthday," the outlook that "colours practically the whole volume is fully expressed:

Well, World, you have kept faith with me,
Kept faith with me;
Upon the whole you have proved to be Much as you said you were.
Since as a child I used to lie
Upon the leaves and watch the sky,
Sever, I own, expected I
That life would all be fair.

"I do not promise overmuch, Child; overmuch I cannot say."
Just neutral-tinted haps and such,
You said to minds like mine.
Was warning for your credit's sake!
Which I for one failed not to take,
And hence could stem such strain and ache
In each year might assign.

"Just neutral-tinted haps and such"—the petty but none the less overwhelming ironies that punish us all, the little crucifixions of obscure, everyday living—these are the substance of the volume. Now and then the age-worn poet remembers ancient moments of ecstasy, but only to sigh. In almost every utterance one feels him saying: "Yes, I've lived many, many years and seen much, and what I've seen has made me long for unconsciousness. It will be better not to be."

If I could but abide
As a tablet on a wall,
Or a hillock daisy-pled,
Or a picture in a hall,
And as nothing else at all.

I should feel no doleful aching,
Should hear no judgment call,
Have no evil dreams or wakings,
No uncouth or grisly care;
In a word, no cross to bear.

As for my life, I've led it
With fair content and credit:
It said: "Take this." I took it.
Said: "Leave." And I forsook it.
If I had done without it,
None would have cared about it.
Or said: "One has refused it.
Who might have neatly used it."

Nevertheless, the poems do not lack power. Many of them, either as a whole or in part, have power in good measure. Note the first three lines of this stanza from "A Daughter's Return," as an example:

When the cold sneer of dawn follows Night-shadows black as a beast,
And the rain filters down the fruit tree,
And the tempest mouths into the blue-top a word like a curse,
Then, when I shall think, think of thee!

There is nothing in this volume to indicate a large impersonal vision of human life. Everything is seen close up and in detail, without reference to any harmonizing scheme. But the view is an intensely human one, and the truth expressed is the more poignant for being partial.

One may read "Winter Words" and love the book for the deep hurt that must have gone into its making.

HOTEL JEFFERSON CELEBRATION

Formal Opening with Dinner at 7 P. M. Saturday.

The new Hotel Jefferson, which has been doubled in capacity through the addition of 400 rooms, will be formally opened with a dinner in the banquet hall Saturday night at 7 o'clock.

Mayor Miller and a number of municipal officers will be among the guests. A special victory will bring more than 200 guests from Chicago. There will be dance music by Don Bestor's Victor Record Orchestra.

Laymen's Dinner for Pastors. Laymen of the Southern Methodist church of the city and vicinity will hold a dinner and reception to-morrow night at Centenary Methodist Church, 16th and Pine streets. Judge M. E. Lawson, chairman of the Board of Lay Activities of the Southern Methodist Church, will be guest of honor. New pastors of the denomination appointed to St. Louis at the last annual conference will be introduced. A. E. Whitaker, district lay leader, will preside.

PAXTON HIBBEN, WAR CORRESPONDENT, DIES

Was Also Author, Diplomat and Soldier—Death Due to Pneumonia.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Capt. Paxton Hibben, journalist, author and soldier, of Indianapolis, Ind., died of pneumonia last night at St. Vincent's hospital.

His death came on his forty-eighth birthday. He was the author of a biography of Henry Ward Beecher and when he was taken ill before Thanksgiving, was working on a biography of William Jennings Bryan.

Capt. Hibben was born in Indianapolis. He was graduated in 1903 from Princeton University and took post-graduate work at Harvard University. He was admitted to the bar, but never practiced law.

He began his diplomatic career as a secretary in the American Embassy at Petrograd. Later he served in diplomatic capacities in Mexico City, Bogota, Colombia, The Hague, and Santiago, Chile. He retired from the diplomatic field in 1912.

When the World War broke out he became a war correspondent for Collier's Weekly and later for the Associated Press.

When the United States entered the war, he was commissioned as Lieutenant of field artillery and later promoted to captain. After the Armistice he went with a military mission to Armenia, and later served with the Near East Relief Mission. At the same time, he was correspondent for the Chicago Tribune and for Leslie's Weekly.

After his return to this country he came into conflict with his army superiors, and was called before a board of army officers in 1924, ostensibly for testing his fitness for promotion. Capt. Hibben declared in reality, he was called to account for his radical views, particularly his stand in favor of recognition of Soviet Russia.

The board was dissolved. Capt. Hibben retained his commission, but he was not promoted. The question of his fitness to hold this commission was raised again last year when he joined a parade of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers in Boston.

He was a member of the Authors' League of America and a Fellow of the Royal and American Geographical Societies.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.

A sudden after-theater rain emphasizes Manhattan's nervousness and its restlessness and impatience. For some reason the town becomes impotent in a shower. The other evening after a brilliant premiere, the crowd was imprisoned under the marquee by a downpour.

Broadway immediately tied itself up in a traffic knot. The quickest stepping street in the world was suddenly inert. Those shabby umbrella sellers, who appear mysteriously from nowhere two minutes after a rain, offered no comfort. It was a dressy "carriage crowd."

For a few minutes it retained a good humor. Then taut nerves began to explode. Imprecations at police and carriage callers turned to blasphemies. The usual jostling and elbowing by crowds resulted in verbal spats and nasty epithets were passed.

One stiff and stalwart—mostly stiff—gentleman mounted a chair and delivered a fiery oration on justice, pointing out the only citizen able to depart was a high city official in a low-numbered car. That gesture is overdue, by the way.

There followed more hoots and catcalling for the police, whose numbers had been reinforced. Before it was over an excited woman snatched an evening wrap from another woman and ground it under her heel and to cap the wallowing climax, an elderly lady slumped to the sidewalk in a faint.

It was a bit of midnight madness that would probably not take place in any other American city. In Paris they cut such capers before breakfast just for the exercise. In the big emotional crisis New York keeps it head, but disturbed by inconsequentialities it flies off the handle.

And when it does the depth of its temper is touched as may be noticed at what is considered a rank file decision at Madison Square Garden. No matter how many ladies are present the language becomes decidedly "The Front Page."

ELIGIBLES FOR SCHOOL BOARD TO BE LISTED

Women Voters' Group Named to Select Persons Who Will Be Asked to Run.

Personnel has been announced of the Candidates Selection Committee, representative of the various sections and interests of the city, which will list qualified candidates for the Board of Education under the plan of the League of Women Voters to elect able persons to four vacancies in April. The committee was chosen by the directors of the league and its Campaign Committee, which will conduct the school campaign.

The Selection Committee members were not chosen specifically as representatives of the organizations with which they are affiliated, but of the citizens. They are: Mrs. John A. Haskell, president of the Visiting Nurse Association, chairman; Mrs. Jerome E. Cook, chairman of the league's Campaign Committee; Jacob B. Lasker, president of the St. Louis Bar Association; E. J. Russell, chairman of the City Plan Commission and of the Transportation Survey Commission; Joseph L. Hochstetler, vice president and trust officer of the Tower Grove Bank; Luther Ely Smith, attorney; Dr. Carl F. Voss and Louis Boeger, president of the North St. Louis Trust Co.

In Order of Preference. When the Selection Committee reports a list of men and women whom it deems qualified for places on the Board of Education, to be picked by it from among the numerous names suggested, the directors and Campaign Committee of the League of Women Voters will number these persons in order of preference. The Campaign Committee then will ask the first four so numbered to become candidates, but if any of these cannot make the race, the committee will proceed down the list.

Upon getting the consent of four persons to run, the Campaign Committee will take charge of circulating petitions to nominate them, each requiring about 7000 voters' signatures, and will conduct a strenuous campaign to bring about their election. Doubtless there will be other candidates in the field.

More than 100 persons have been suggested for consideration as candidates by various organizations and individuals. Further suggestions will be welcomed up to next Wednesday, and may be sent to the League of Women Voters, 3229 Washington boulevard. It is thought likely that the Selection Committee will report about 15 or 20 names on its preferential list.

Four Six-Year Terms Expiring. The Public School Patrons' Alliance is expected to campaign for four candidates also. In the past its selections generally have coincided in part with those of other groups working for the benefit of the schools. The four board members whose six-year terms are expiring are Ben Weldie, J. E. Schollmeyer, Henry Heier and Arthur A. Blumeyer, now president. Mr. Heier has under consideration a request by the League of Women Voters to call a conference of interested organizations and individuals to consider various factors concerning organization and administration of the school system, including reduction of the number of members of the board and the manner of selecting members. Mayor La Follette said today that he was not ready to announce his decision on this. William F. Fahey, a Democratic member of the Election Board, who recently proposed having Board of Education members appointed by Mr. Mayor, has virtually dropped this idea, in view of opposition from the League and the Alliance, but is eager to support the conference.

AN opera bouffe touch was offered at one of the gilded resorts near Montauk Point this summer. It is a combination gambling and cafe. A wine waiter offers a wine card of the choice spirits the establishment affords in a silver frame. But it is attached to a chain padlocked to his wrist.

AND near Montauk Point is another recalling the days of coach and horses with its wide green yard and row of white posts. There are whitewashed walls with creepers and leaded windows and patrons may have one of those dinners of the English countryside with Yorkshire pudding, flacons of real ale and such. It is all served at tables between genuine oak benches and an old flagged floor. Red faced and tubby English waiters, imported from Canada, are on hand, and there is no music. It is so far back from the main road—heard the swish of the motor—visitors say they can almost hear the swish of the motor. And I presume, the squelch of boots.

PATRON of the drama note: New York's most consistent first nighter is A. Reubin, the delicate king.

ACCORDING to a smart haberdashery proprietor, expensive silk pajamas are worn chiefly by young men who cannot afford them. And actors.

The head waiter of an exclusive cafe is authority, on the other hand, for the statement a millionaire invariably desires an obscure table.

THE height of I-don't-know-what: A steel worker today was enjoying an after luncheon nap, stretched out on the projecting 34th floor beam of an unfinished building. What with watching him for 10 minutes and going to see "Chang" for the second time, I'm fit to be tied.

JOHN HELD JR., the artist, was recently rendered unconscious for two weeks on his farm in Connecticut by the violent kick of a horse. And Don Herold says he enjoyed the experience so much he has now purchased three mules. (Copyright, 1928.)

SOCIAL ITEMS

CARDS were received this morning for the annual Christmas celebration to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles White Scudder, 75 Vandewater place; their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mason Scudder of the La Due road, and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Earle Reynolds of Lake Forest, Ill., to be given Christmas morning at 11 o'clock, at the C. W. Scudder home.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds will arrive early that morning to visit Mr. and Mrs. Scudder. Mr. Reynolds will return to Lake Forest after a few days and Mrs. Reynolds will remain until Jan. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Werner of "The Woodlands" on La Due road, and their young sons, Louis II and Garneau Werner, are planning a trip to Florida.

Mrs. Werner's father, Mr. Louis Werner, 36 Westmoreland place, will spend the late winter in San Antonio, Tex.

Mr. Werner Sr. and Mr. George von Schrader of Bridgeton, Mo., have been in Nashville, Tenn., and are now on the way to Florida.

Mrs. Henry Garneau of the St. Regis apartments, who, with her sister, Mrs. Frances Johnson Mills, have been abroad for several months, is expected home in February.

Mrs. Garneau has had a villa in Cannes and is now on a visit to Lake Como.

Cards will be sent out in a few days for an informal Christmas afternoon party to be given by Mr. and Mrs. John David Ferguson and their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Ferguson, from 4 to 7 o'clock at their home, 6225 Washington boulevard.

Sixteen debutantes were the guests today of Mrs. Henry Cooper Whiteside, 5137 Washington boulevard, and her daughter, Mrs. Edward Morton Banister, at a luncheon in honor of Miss Alice Chapman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin G. Chapman Jr., and Miss Lucy Thompson, daughter of Mr. Guy Atwood Thompson. The party was given at the Whiteside home.

Among the Christmas holiday parties for which cards have been received are a dinner dance to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Dana, of Brentmoor for their daughter, Miss Mary Leslie Dana, at 7:30 o'clock Christmas night, at the St. Louis Country Club; a tea dance at which Mrs. Albert D. Norton, Mrs. John T. Willis and Mrs. J. Scott Porter will be hostesses for Miss Irene Crouch Williams and Miss Jane Scott Porter, members of the senior class at Mary Institute, Dec. 26, at the Glen Echo Country Club; a tea dance to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Leonard of 5222 Washington boulevard for their daughter, Miss Valle Leonard and their son, Charles A. Leonard Jr., Dec. 27 from 4 to 6 o'clock in the Tower Room of the Congress Hotel; a dinner at 7:30 o'clock Dec. 22 by Mr. and Mrs. Richard McCulloch, 4334 Westminster place, for their daughter, Miss Mary Sue McCulloch; a tea dance Dec. 23 by Mr. and Mrs. Talton Turner Francis of the Ladue road from 4 to 6 o'clock at the St. Louis Country Club for June Perry Francis and Jon Hollingsworth Senesby; a tea dance by Mrs. Albert Boettler Dec. 27, from 4 to 6 o'clock for her young daughter, Marjorie Boettler, at their home, 6226 Washington boulevard, and a dance New Year's night, to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shipley, 470 Lake avenue, for their daughter, Miss Mary Dandgerfield Shipley, at the Glen Echo Country Club.

Mrs. Clarence Maloy of the St. Regis Apartments is in Boston to visit with her sister, Mrs. Blake, and to attend the wedding of her niece, Miss Barbara Blake. She will return home in a few days.

A dance for the young school set was given Friday night at Glen Echo Country Club by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bond, 6339 Watterman avenue, and Mr. and Mrs.

Charles Pond Capen, 4759 Westminster place, for their daughters, Miss Jane Bond and Miss Marjorie Capen. There were 120 guests. Miss Bond and Miss Capen are members of the junior class at John Burroughs School.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Mary Fletcher Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Myers, 5723 Bartmer avenue, and Clifford P. McKinney of St. Louis, formerly of Chicago, which took place Oct. 27. The arrangements were simple because of mourning in the bride's family.

Mr. and Mrs. McKinney have taken an apartment at 5455 Chamberlain avenue.

Announcement is made in Los Angeles, Cal., of the engagement of Miss Kate Winnett of Los Angeles, and Walter Weaver Candy Jr., son of Mrs. W. W. Candy formerly of 44 Kingsbury place, St. Louis.

Miss Winnett is a graduate of the Marlborough School in Los Angeles and the Bennett School in Millbrook, N. Y. She impersonated Raquel Torres at the Assistance League pageant Monday in which the young society women of Los Angeles masqueraded as movie queens.

Miss Winnett will depart next month with her sister for a long trip abroad and plan for the wedding will be made on her return.

Mr. Candy is a graduate of Princeton University, and, since the removal of his family to California, has spent several of his vacations as the guest of St. Louis friends.

RAIDER ASPHYXIATED IN CAVE DISTILLERY

Another Overcome Near Houston, Tex. — Gas Trap Theory Discarded.

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 6.—Discarding a theory that Pat Sharpe, Federal prohibition agent, was the victim of a lethal gas trap set by a moonshiner, officers today decided that he was overcome by "black damp" yesterday while exploring a cave near here in which a still had been discovered. After an inquest, J. M. Ray, Justice of the Peace, held that Sharpe had come to his death as the result of poisonous gases formed naturally in the cavern, such as are encountered in mines and excavations. The agent was overcome when he descended a ladder to the bottom of the cave but before he had shouted a warning to his companions to "go back." Victor Butthod, Sharpe's chief, became unconscious and had to be pulled from the cave when he made a futile attempt at rescue. Another officer suffered from the effects of the gas in aiding Butthod. Sharpe was dead when his body was reached half-an-hour later. Raymond Wisheart, Assistant District Attorney, expressed the opinion that Sharpe was poisoned from mash fumes combined with dampness and other odors in the cavern, which had been closed before the raid was made. A 55-year-old Italian living on the farm where the still was found is being held in jail.

a need for $1,000,000 to complete the courthouse. The 1923 issue provided $3,000,000 for acquiring the property of Memorial Plaza and erecting a $1,000,000 war memorial building thereon. To acquire the property alone probably will cost in excess of the total sum, and we will need considerably more money to embellish the plaza. The sewer system of the plaza site will have to be changed and a subway built beneath the plaza for Market street trolleys.

"In connection with that, we ought to build a garage under the plaza to aid us in our parking difficulties. Such a structure would not interfere with the surface beauty. "It is estimated we will need $4,000,000 more to finish the electric street lighting system. The expansion of residential districts in the northwestern and southwestern sections makes this a necessity.

"There is a need for additional hospitals. The present hospitals are occupied 10 to 30 per cent in excess of their capacity. I have discussed this with members of the Medical Society and they estimate it would take at least $5,000,000 to build the facilities needed. We have no convalescent hospital, but one is absolutely necessary if we are to take the proper care of our unfortunates. Koch Hospital is full and City Hospital is so crowded with incurable tuberculosis patients that they are not properly separated from the curable.

"If St. Louis is to keep its position as a city of progress, we must find money to build necessary things, and there is no doubt this money should be obtained by a bond issue. It must be remembered that after projects are built, however, funds to maintain them must be found in municipal revenue. This requires a change in the State Constitution, as we have reached the limit of our taxing power. It should be noted that St. Louis has the lowest per capita cost of any city over 500,000 in the country. Other cities are expending large sums for outlying parks. We haven't sufficient money now to maintain city parks properly and have no funds to increase our acreage in the country.

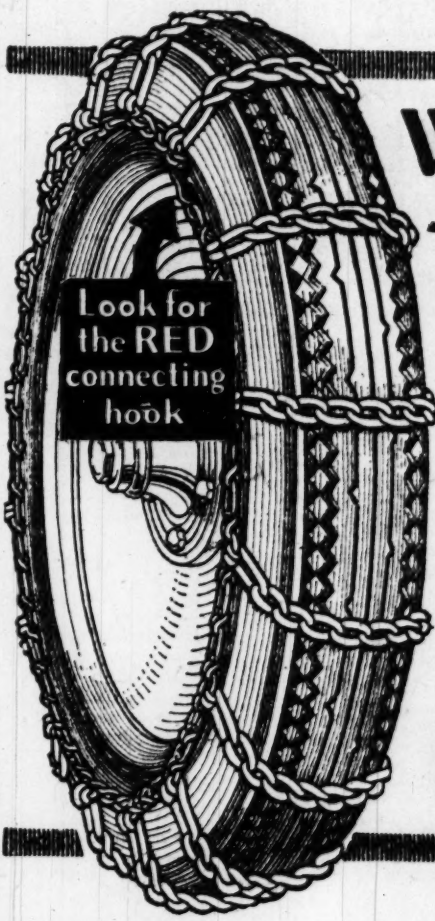

For Educational Campaign.
"In my opinion, it will require an educational campaign to convince the voters of the benefits of the projects mentioned. It is doubtful whether a bond issue is a proper subject to be voted on in the spring campaign. I have discussed with members of the former General Council on Civic Needs (which planned the 1925 issue) the plans for an educational campaign, and I hope to have the organization responsible for passage of the $57,372,500 issue co-operate in another campaign to complete the job.

"It requires publicity and education to put over any proposition which increases taxes. It was estimated that the increase in taxes due to the 1925 issue would make the tax rate for the sinking fund 26.4 cents in 1928 but actually it is only 27 cents, and there has been an increase of only 5 cents since 1923."

In addition to projects mentioned by the Mayor, some objects of additional bond issue which have been mentioned at City Hall are: Double-deck highway for Third street downtown, more sewer construction, elimination of more railroad grade crossings, opening and widening of more traffic arteries, construction of a stadium in Forest Park where earth from the River des Peres improvement is being thrown up, extensive development of the Mississippi River front and, later, after a transportation scheme is developed, subways.

We'll have plenty snow this winter —he's a wise car-owner who has WEED CHAINS in his car!

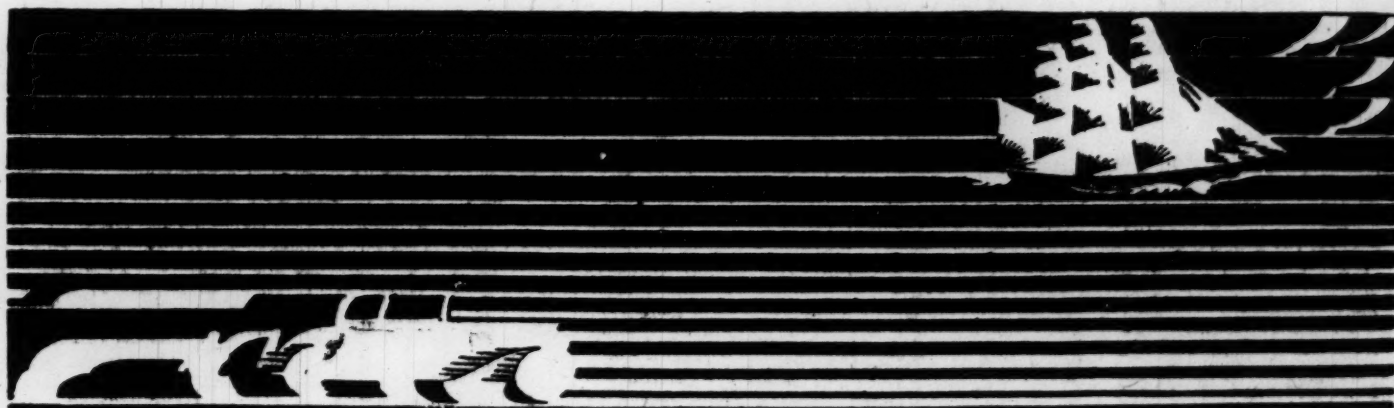

THE finest engine in the world can't pull a car out of snow unless the wheels have traction—such as WEED Chains put there. But they have got to be on the wheels to do any good. Not hanging in the garage or lying in the store.

Don't take a chance with snowy, slippery roads. Get a set of WEED Chains today. Keep them in your car, so you'll have them handy when you need them. . . . You can be sure they're WEEDS by the gray galvanized side chains, the brass plated cross chains, the red connecting hooks and the name "WEED" stamped on every cross chain.

Be sure you ask for genuine WEED CHAINS

So we're calling this Reo Flying Cloud The Master

He must have been a grand old sea-dog, the Master of the Flying Cloud. — Can't you imagine him—taking the wheel himself, driving her under full sail down the Roaring Forties, thrilling (as who would not?) to the feel and mastery of the finest clipper ship that ever rode the seven seas?

And so we call this Reo Flying Cloud The Master. The name of the car and a name that suggests still something else. — Get behind the wheel yourself. Feel the thrill when you let her out for speed. Watch her for pickup and brake action. Watch the way she handles. Note the way she hugs the road, paved or dirt, at thirty miles or sixty—the clip at which she'll take a hill. — She's a car—as the other Flying Cloud was a ship. And there's a Flying Cloud waiting now for a Master to take her wheel.

Pipe Convert Ends Agonizing Tobacco Hunt

New York, N. Y.,
June 30, 1928
Larus & Bro. Co.
Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:

I started smoking on cigarettes, but after meeting a young lady for whom men who smoked pipes had a greater charm, I promptly switched to one.

Then my agony began. I tried one brand of tobacco after another, always working on the theory that the more you paid for tobacco, the better it would be.

I tried imported special mixtures. I paid as much as fifty cents an ounce. All to no avail.

Then came the day I tried Edgeworth. It was at a ball game. I had run short of the certain brand I was smoking, and a casual acquaintance offered me a pipeful from his pouch.

Imagine my delight when after the first few pulls I did not feel the old familiar bite. I puffed on, inhaling the delightful aroma, and oh, boy! It was sweet right down to the bottom.

Nothing has separated me from my pipe, or my pipe from Edgeworth, since then.

Yours very truly,
(signed) David Freedman, Jr.

TO CONFER WITH DONOR OF PARK TO STATE

Gov. Baker Sends Agent to Dr. Sayman—Formal Acceptance Delayed.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 6.—No action will be taken by the State toward formal acceptance of the offer of Dr. Thomas M. Sayman, wealthy soap manufacturer of St. Louis, to give the State the Roaring River resort in Barry County as a park, until State Game and Fish Commissioner Keith McCause returns from Washington. Gov. Baker said today. McCause will not return for several days.

Formal tender of the park site was made to Gov. Baker yesterday by Dr. Sayman, in a long-distance telephone call from Carthage. The State Park Board, which would have to accept the site before it could be taken over, is composed of the Governor, Attorney-General Shattell, and the Game and Fish Commissioner. Baker said that in the absence of McCause he had sent C. D. Monteith, chief of Parks, in the game and fish department, to Carthage to confer with Dr. Sayman.

"It is an out and out gift, with no strings to it," Baker said, "but there will be no action until McCause returns. The Park Board would have to accept it formally and then Dr. Sayman would have to make out a deed to the State." Dr. Sayman purchased Roaring River, an Ozark trout-fishing resort, for $105,000 at a recent foreclosure sale. Announcing the gift, he said he intended to spend $150,000 in improvements before turning over the property to the State.

SCHOOL STREET MAN WAS ALMOST HELPLESS WITH CHRONIC RHEUMATISM

Had Rheumatic Arthritis for Three Years—Back to Work Free From Pain and Stiffness.

GIVES CREDIT TO WELDONA TABLETS FOR RECOVERY.

"Before I took Weldona tablets I was helpless as far as doing any work," said Mr. David Gibson, who lives at 3125 School St. Mr. Gibson

continued: "My shoulders were stiff and painful and often kept me awake at night. In fact I had to give up my work on account of the pain. It was impossible for me to get my hands to my face or shave because of the pain and stiffness in my shoulders.

tablets and how they had helped so many other sufferers right here in St. Louis, I decided to give them a trial. I am glad I did for in a few weeks I was able to return to work. The pain and stiffness has left me and I feel like a new man. If anyone questions my statement I would be glad to tell them more about my case. If they will call at my home,

Weldona tablets are not a mere "tonic" or, so-called, "general system builder," and unlike some remedies which claim to get you rid of everything that ails you. Weldona tablets are intended and recommended for rheumatism and rheumatic conditions only, and will not upset the stomach, affect the heart or any other organ. Weldona is absolutely harmless and contains no dope.

The Weldona representative who now meets the public every day at Walgreen's Drug Store, 514 Washington, Ave., St. Louis, gladly explains more about this remedy and gives out the 24-page fully illustrated and interesting book, entitled

"Germs of Rheumatism," which are absolutely free of charge to all who

worst enemy
of modern housewives

It's discouraging to try to keep a house clean when the furnace spreads a film of soot that sticks to everything it touches. You no sooner get a room cleaned than it's dirty again.

Homes that burn coke aren't bothered with this trouble for coke makes no soot, smoke or dirt. It is a clean fuel that makes a clean healthful heat. Users say "coke is as cheap to burn as soft coal."

Order a load of coke from your dealer and let our demonstrator show you how to get clean, economical heat. There are three grades of coke $9.50—$10.25 and $11.25 per ton in full loads.

I. C. C. WANTS LAW TO RESTRAIN HUGE RAILWAY MERGERS

Commerce Commission, in Annual Report, Seeks Many Changes in Federal Statutes on Regulations.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 6.—A long list of both major and minor changes in the Federal law relating to railroad regulation was sought from Congress by the Interstate Commerce Commission today in submitting its annual report. An appeal for broader and more specific powers for the commission itself to control and direct the consolidation of existing systems of railroads into large units, was among the points touched upon. In addition, citing the continual growth in the variety and volume of work before its members, the Commission asked for legal power to delegate duties in regard to hearings and decisions to its individual members and employees. In the direction of limiting its own authority, the Commission asked Congress to exempt completely from its jurisdiction the operation of electric railways, except such "as interchange standard freight equipment with steam railways and participate in through interstate freight rates with such carriers."

Against Wooden Passenger Cars.
The report also proposed that railroads in the United States be permitted by law to make joint through rates with Canadian and Mexican lines, and suggested amendments to the penal code to make workable sections applying fines to shippers who misbill goods to avoid paying freight rates. Former proposals were repeated by the Commission that wooden passenger cars should be eliminated by law from general railroad service.

Effect of Big Mergers.
"A method of effecting dominance in the affairs of competing carriers that may seriously affect the maintenance of competition and other relations among carriers," the Commission said in discussing the consolidation situation, "is the acquisition by individuals or group of individuals of control of two or more such carriers. Whether such financial or other relations can or should be prevented under existing law is a question to which we have not heretofore had occasion to give consideration. The first instances of such individual acquisitions of relatively large railroads have only recently been brought to our attention."

Railroads continue to extend the length of present lines and build into new territory, the report indicated in estimating that the commission last year had approved projects for the construction of 717 miles of new lines. At the same time, it allowed the abandonment of 587 miles of line which operating corporations no longer found profitable.

Reviewing general statistics, the commission concluded that, while general railroad freight business has been satisfactory, steam rail carriage of passengers showed a continued decline, from the competition of motor vehicles and other methods of transportation.

Valuations Await Decision.
One large branch of enterprise under its direction—the valuation of railroads—was said by the commission to have reached practical completion last year, although the findings and methods are awaiting Supreme Court approval in pending litigation. Once the valuation findings are accepted and put into use, the commission will use the totals to direct rate-making, and also to recapture from the railroad half the amount of earnings it may attain in excess of 6 per cent upon its valuation.

Although all of the recapture situation is involved in the pending test litigation, the commission noted that it now held $2,184,000, paid over to the Government by railroads which have not chosen to contest the recapture clause. No estimates were presented as to the amount of recapture funds the Government may collect when valuation is completely established. Demand for the change of law that will allow American roads to make joint rates with Canadian and Mexican carriers arose, the report explained, from litigation over new print shipments from Canada. The commission, in proposing the law, said Congress should give it jurisdiction over such joint rates as American carriers may establish with the foreign lines.

MAYOR THINKS CITY SHOULD CONTROL POLICE DEPARTMENT

"We Have Brains Enough to Run It," He Tells the Lions' Club.

The St. Louis Police Department should be controlled by the city rather than by the State, as at present, Mayor Miller declared in addressing the Lions' Club at the American Hotel Annex yesterday. "I believe if we are smart enough to operate and maintain the waterworks system and other departments and to build the new Courthouse—and build it honestly—we have brains enough to run our own Police Department," the Mayor said.

MISSOURI G. O. P. SPENT $160,419, $2194 LEFT OVER

Expenditures, According to Treasurer's Report, Were $2500 Less Than Those of Democrats.

$44,960 DISBURSED TO COUNTY GROUPS

$15,000 Credited to Otto Understood to Have Represented Contributions From State Job-Holders.

The Republican State Committee spent $160,419 in carrying Missouri for Hoover and the State ticket, according to the report of S. C. McClure, treasurer of the committee, filed with the Recorder of Deeds yesterday. This was about $2500 less than the Democratic State Committee spent in the campaign.

Receipts of the Republican State Committee were $162,613, so that it has left a sum of $2194. The Democratic State Committee, according to an advance statement of the report to be filed by its treasurer, Fred G. Zellig, received about $165,000 and expended about $163,000.

The Republican committee's report shows large expenditures for organization, publicity, printing, speakers and radio. The items of expenditure are listed in order of time, and are not classified or assembled, so that the same party may appear several times. Disbursements to county committees are shown in some cases by the names of individuals, with no addresses given. The total disbursed to county organizations was $44,960.

Caulfield Gave $1000. A total of $119,323.75 is shown as having been received from the Republican National Committee. This, members of the committee say, represented money raised in Missouri for the National Committee, and refunded by the National Committee to the State body. One of the contributions received was $15,000, credited to Robert W. Otto, and is understood to represent contributions of State officials and employees at Jefferson City. Henry S. "LIFE IS A JOY: NEW KONJOLA HAS GIVEN ME HEALTH"

Relief After Twenty Years of Suffering Comes Through This New and Different Medicine.

Wherever Konjola, the new medicine, is introduced there comes relief within a few days—happy and enthusiastic endorsements of this wonderful medicine from those who have found in its elements the pathway to new and glorious health; who have discovered in this master medicine the first and only relief they have received after years of disappointments. How Konjola triumphs when all else has failed; why Konjola conquers the most obstinate cases of stomach, liver, kidney and bowel troubles, all is being explained by the Konjola Man, who is at the Walgreen Drug Store, 515 Olive street, St. Louis. There, day after day, he is meeting those who suffer, those who would be well again. The Konjola Man does not make promises nor claims—he does not need them. Rather, he points out case upon case wherein Konjola has proved its amazing merits and astounding powers. Take, for example, the case of Mr. A. A. Owens, 773 Lincoln Avenue, prominent business man of Springfield, Missouri. Thousands like it could be told.

"When I realize that Konjola put me back to twenty years of suffering from stomach trouble," writes Mr. Owens, "I am filled with amazement that one medicine could bring about such splendid results after everything else I tried brought only disappointments. I would not take a fortune for what this wonderful medicine has done for me. Nothing tasted good. I could not sleep. After a meal I was in agony. Cramping pains came over me, I spit up particles of undigested food. I was so loaded with gas that I could hardly breathe. My liver was sluggish, and finally my system was so filled with mucus and I was so that I could scarcely walk to my car."

"I heard so much about this new medicine that I investigated. All I did as directed by the Konjola Man, and ate a hearty meal, including biscuits, meat and even apples. Then I waited for the expected pains—but they did not come. Then I knew that I had, at last, found the medicine I had always needed. My friends were amazed at the change in me. Today I am in perfect health, the first in twenty years. That is why I endorse this astonishing medicine. I wonder Konjola is known as the medicine with more than a million endorsements."

Konjola works directly upon the digestive organs, the very seat of the trouble. Konjola removes the causes, the mucus disappears and strength and health return. Konjola sends out 32 ingredients—22 of them the most potent roots and herbs—to the seat of the ailment. Results are quick, and come to stay.

The Konjola Man is at the Walgreen Drug Store, 515 Olive street, St. Louis, where he is meeting the daily and explaining the wonderful merits and powers of this new medicine.

J. J. DAVIS APPROVES LIMIT ON IMMIGRATION

Labor Secretary, in Annual Report, Proposes Measure to Protect Workers.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Extensive revamping of the immigration laws with further restrictions on the influx of aliens into the United States is recommended by Secretary Davis of the Labor Department in his annual report.

The department's report estimates that more than 1,400,000 workers, men, women and children, have been placed in jobs during the year by the Government employment service, while its agents of conciliation, directed by Hugh L. Kerwin, have intervened in 475 industrial disputes during the year, involving 350,000 workers.

Work of the bureau engaged in special service for women and children, for the supervision of naturalization of aliens, and the statistical study of wages, prices and industrial economies are likewise reviewed and the Secretary expresses great satisfaction with existing industrial conditions, and optimism for even further betterment in the future.

The chief effect of the immigration legislation Davis approved would be to cut the immigration from Mexico, now running at nearly 80,000 a year, to slightly above 7000, while leaving undisturbed the movement from other countries of the Western Hemisphere. However, it would also compromise the dispute between the quota and national origins methods of determining admissibility to the United States, and would relieve some of the handicaps now imposed on aliens who are admitted. He recommended a compromise between the quota and national origins methods of determining admissible numbers and endorsed the proposals to fix a quota limit to immigration from North and South American countries, which now have no quota.

To prevent the separation of families, the measure indorses suggestions that heads of families be not allowed to enter the United States until passports under the quota were also available for the wife and children, but proposes to let the members of now separated families to be reunited under less onerous delay.

Davis also questions the operation of the law favoring immigration of agricultural labor, as having failed to attain effectiveness, and suggested alterations. Recent court decisions by which aliens, resident in Canada, have obtained permission to cross the border into the United States were most regretted in the report.

"If these decisions are upheld, it will be impossible to prevent the entrance into the United States of aliens of any race or color who may gain entry to Canada," it observes, after stating that appeals to the Supreme Court are still pending. "If the final decision of the Supreme Court is against the Government, then the present immigration law will be no longer of any effect as a protection to the wage earner of the United States against alien labor of foreign countries, whether Canadian, Mexican or European."

Why risk fade-away freeze protection?

—when it is so easy to make your car permanently freeze-proof?

YOU wouldn't hire a watchman that sneaked away. Why put up with an anti-freeze that stealthily evaporates? Its protection fades away and leaves your car at the mercy of the cold. You risk a frozen radiator, a cracked cylinder block, a broken pump. Your car goes out of commission. Repair bills are costly.

Glycerine won't evaporate
Yet it is so easy to make your car permanently freeze-proof. One filling of Radiator Glycerine will protect it for the entire winter. Glycerine won't evaporate. Won't boil off. You don't have to keep replacing it. You get positive permanent protection. You don't guess, you know your car is safe. Think of the peace of mind this gives you. A winter without freeze-up worries.

The safe anti-freeze

Remember, too, that Radiator Glycerine is as safe for your car as water. It won't hurt the lacquer finish. It won't smell up your car. It has no mysterious ingredients to damage the cooling system.

Put Radiator Glycerine in your car now and get a whole winter's protection.

Put it in NOW

Amundsen used Radiator Glycerine at the North Pole. It meets the U. S. Bureau of Standards requirements of a perfect anti-freeze. Your garage probably has it. Get full information from any distributor listed here. Act to-day.

NEW MACHINE SETS TYPE BY TELEGRAPH

Device Demonstrated at Rochester, N. Y., Operates Linotype at High Speed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 6.—The teletypesetter, an invention for setting type by telegraph, had its first public demonstration today in the office of the Rochester Times-Union.

It is a machine somewhat like a typewriter. The machine perforates a paper tape, and this tape, fed into another machine, causes reproduction, by electrical impulse, of a similar tape at the receiving station. The tape, at the receiving station, is attached to a linotype machine, and when started, operates the linotype at high speed, to set the matter typed by the operator at the sending station.

At the sending end, a typed copy of the matter is printed in front of the sending operator. On the receiving end, a mechanical printing device prints the matter at the same time that the tape is perforated. It is planned to improve the machine so the printed matter will appear on the tape itself, but this has not been done thus far. The purpose of this device is to enable editors to edit the matter received.

The perforations are in code, similar to the telegraph alphabet, but consisting of dots in varying arrangements, with no dashes. Not more than six perforated dots are needed to represent any letter or figure. The speed of sending is estimated at 60 words a minute.

While the rules of editing and style in different newspaper offices vary, so that much telegraph matter is not run uniformly in the various papers, the new machine is expected to be of value in connection with the transmission of official messages and important speeches, which are run verbatim, and in transmitting stock and market news. It is expected to be of value in book and pamphlet printing. Only the perforated tape will have to be saved for possible use in future editions, thus releasing great amounts of type metal.

Walter W. Morey of East Orange, N. J., invented the teletypesetter. It is made by a Chicago firm. Several newspaper publishers and Neal Dow Baker, president of the Intertype Corporation of New York witnessed the demonstration.

CAMPAIGN IMMIGRATION TALK ENTERS DEBATE IN CONGRESS

Republican Senator Announces Opposition to Hoover's Policy; Smith's View Brought Up.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The first flareup in the Senate over the recent campaign today found a Republican, Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, announcing opposition to the proposal of Herbert Hoover for repeal of the National origins provision of the immigration act. Democrats were quick to seize on the situation and when Senator Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, asked the Pennsylvania senator if he would oppose a recommendation by Hoover for repeal of the provision, he replied: "Mr. Hoover speaks for himself. I speak for myself. We have votes now and he has not, and I will vote against any attempt to kill this provision." Senator King (Dem.), Utah, asked if a petition presented by Reed, from the Illinois American Legion, opposing repeal of the provision, was aimed at Hoover. "I don't know whether it is aimed at Mr. Hoover," he answered, "or at Gov. Smith, who opposed and restrictive immigration except based on the 1920 census."

The national origins provision would go into effect next July, superseding the present system of basing the immigration quota on the census of 1890. Senator King said it went into effect the total of immigration into the country would be reduced by 11,000 annually, or to a total of about 153,000.

9-YEAR-OLD LOUISIANA BOY A PRODIGY IN MATHEMATICS

Adds, Subtracts and Multiplies Mentally at Lightning Speed by Process All His Own.

By the Associated Press.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 6.—Nine-year-old John Candies, born in a secluded home on the banks of a South Louisiana bayou, has been discovered as a mathematical prodigy. Each day he sits in the Des Allemands School ready to give lightning answers to problems of multiplication, addition and subtraction.

He performs for visitors at the request of his teacher with wily-eyed timidity and does not understand why people marvel.

"John, multiply 283 by 124," requests the teacher. "Thirty-five thousand and ninety-two," replies John. His answer appears to come without effort.

John taught himself to read and write. He learned his letters from printed advertisements on grocery boxes which he begged from the few storekeepers along the bayou. He invented a system of his own which baffles his school teachers. He knew one of his letters as "Ti Madame," another as "Vieux Martin" and still another as "Koo-toong."

The boy's struggle for education attracted public attention and this year he was entered in school and has been assured a college education if he will take it.

LANDIS ON HAND AS MINOR LEAGUE FACTIONS TAKE UP DRAFT

BRANHAM FAVORS FREE SELECTION; TOOLE TO BLOCK ANY AMENDMENT

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—Kenesaw M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, was here today for the annual convention of the National Baseball Association, with the draft question the special order of business at the afternoon session.

Chattanooga was chosen at the morning meeting as the site for the 1929 convention.

With the minor, big and little, sharply divided on the question of selection of players by the majors from the minors, the new name for drafting athletes, the baseball stage was set for discussion with the league presidents, players and umpires, too, in attendance.

Brannham backs free draft. The leagues below class "A" were understood to be in favor of an unrestricted or unlimited selection while the three class AA circuits and one class A organization—the Western—stood behind the modified selection which permits only players to be drafted who were sent to the minors by the majors, with a chance to gain a return ticket.

W. G. Brannham, Durham, N. C., president of the South Atlantic Association, Piedmont and Eastern Carolina leagues, leader of the forces fighting for a full and free draft, said before the convention opened that he would demand a vote on every section of a resolution proposing a number of amendments intended to make the selection laws more liberal.

Toole Ready to Block Move. John Conway Toole, New York, president of the International League, was in a position to block the amendments as no league now outside the draft can be forced to enter the agreement.

The defeat of the amendments will leave the way open to introduction of the so-called "Brannham resolution," which would decree that once under the draft always a possible draft beneficiary so far as the player is concerned. President Brannham's proposed amendment declares that if a player signs originally in a league where the draft is in operation he will always be subject to selection even if he later graduates to a league where the rule against wholesale selection is ironclad. Mr. Brannham said that he would insist upon a roll call vote on his resolution.

Much Outside Activity. In spite of the demands of the convention there was much outside activity as the national association went into its second day with adjournment to come tomorrow.

The Central League was in session for a time with another meeting to follow at which proposals to increase the circuit from six to eight clubs were considered. The Sablosky, as a part of a plan to retire from baseball, offered to sell his Akron holdings to the league. A decision was to be reached later. Officers were to be elected during the meeting.

The Texas League decided to open its 1929 season April 17, one week later than the 1928 opening date. This will make the Texas schedule conform to that of the Southern Association and permit the Dixie Series, the South's autumn classic, to get under way without delay.

Stuhldreher Reported Sought As Huskie Coach

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 6.—Harry Stuhldreher, Notre Dame's all-American quarterback four years ago and one of the famed "Four Horsemen" is reported to have been offered a position on the coaching staff of the University of Washington. A representative of the university is said to have called on Stuhldreher last week at Villanova, Pa., where he is coaching and offered him a contract, rumored to have been one of the most lucrative ever tendered a young football coach.

By the Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 6.—Reports circulating here that Harry Stuhldreher, former scintillating quarterback of Notre Dame, was sought as an assistant football coach at the University of Washington were denied by the university's graduate manager's office here last night.

Earl Campbell, graduate manager, attending the coast conference at Los Angeles, wired a denial from the South while assistants here said the report was entirely unfounded.

Before leaving for Los Angeles Campbell said he contemplated no changes in the football staff until he returned. Stuhldreher is coach at Villa Nova College, Pennsylvania.

Cline Kayos Thuru. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—Johnny Cline, 160, of Fresno, Cal., stopped Marcel Thuru, 179, of France, in the sixth round of their 16-round bout here last night. The Frenchman was bleeding freely from cuts when the referee stopped the fight. It was a free swinging affair, fairly even up to the time it was stopped.

Dispute Among Big Ten Coaches Over Eligibility Of McLain and Holman

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Question as to the eligibility of two football stars, Mayes McLain of Iowa and Allan Holman of Ohio State, threatens to cause discord among Big Ten coaches at their annual conference here tomorrow and Saturday.

Alumni of several schools in the conference are known to have protested against the two players, charging they were ineligible because they already had played football on other college teams.

McLain, Iowa's Cherokee Indian fullback, played with the Haskell Indians for two seasons before entering Iowa. While the Big Ten has ruled Haskell to be a preparatory school, those who protest against McLain point out that Haskell plays against other colleges of importance and should be classed as a college.

Attended Iowa State. Holman attended Iowa State College before entering Ohio State and several Iowa alumni have protested to Commissioner John R. Griffiths that the Big Ten rule, whereby a player transferring to the Western Conference from another college must be eligible scholastically and attend his new school two years before he can play Big Ten football, was violated in his case.

With the Big Ten football schedules virtually completed, most of the discussion of the coaches' issues is centered about policy of eligibility and transfer. Both Ohio State and Iowa are expected to

FIRST SOCCER CUP GAME HERE SET FOR DEC. 16

Winton Barker, president of the St. Louis Soccer League, announced yesterday that Goalkeeper Sauter of the Wellingtons and Johnny Worden, Madison forward, have been suspended for one week as a result of a fistic encounter during last Sunday's game between the Wellingtons and Madison. The players will miss next Sunday's games.

Barker also announced that the Madison, leaders in the St. Louis League, will play the tail-end Ben Miller eleven in the first round of the national challenge cup competition, Dec. 16. The Wellingtons will play the Tablers in a first round cup game Dec. 23.

Preliminary games have been in progress for two months in various parts of the country. The four local teams, along with the strong Chicago and Eastern clubs, were exempted from the qualifying rounds by reason of their proved ability.

As a result of the war between the American Soccer League and the United States Football Association, which controls the game in this country, the cup competition is somewhat upset. The American League suspended three of its teams for entering the cup competition, which controls the game in this country, the cup competition is somewhat upset. Today there is no scramble for Knute and Billy Gibson would probably peddle his rights reasonably. For a near-unknown deflated the stock of Hansen over night.

Hansen, not being dead, may come back and justify the faith or hopes that so many men have reposed in him. But the chances are very much against it. He is one of those fighters who flash well but can't carry it, like Al Reich and Fred Fulton.

Good to Look at.

Hansen is almost perfectly built for the pugilistic trade in every respect except mental attitude. Nobody has ever been able to put him out just what, if any, mental attitude Knute has toward the fight game.

Hansen's career consists of three spasms, the first starting when he was just a youngster of 18. He ground New York by his fine showing. But just as he seemed to be ready to climb he disappeared. He turned up in China, in the marines, where Matty Smith took hold of him.

Matty wrote back that he had the future world's champion. But he didn't. Matty didn't even have a fighter, for again Knute took wing and disappeared.

He emerged from oblivion a year or more ago when Joe Woodman dug him out of a Hollywood movie act and bought his contract for $5000.

"I don't know about this fellow," Joe told the writer. "He looks wonderful but he never gets anywhere. I'll give him a few bouts and find out what's inside him."

But even Joe couldn't find out what was inside Hansen. But he found he owned a very restless egg. Knute took himself on a couple of fights and did fairly well. Then he eloped to England and did a few other tricks to prove his eccentricity, such as getting another manager.

But along with it he made some people think that he was coming along. In one fight he knocked out Phil Scott in one round, a feat which seemed to CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—Promoter Jim Mullin has announced an all-star boxing program for next Wednesday night, engaging Jerry Turffy Griffiths, Sioux City, Ia., light-heavyweight; Joey Medill, Chicago lightweight; Joey Sanger, Milwaukee junior lightweight, and Jack McCarthy, Chicago welterweight.

Their respective opponents have not been named. Each bout will be 10 rounds, Mullin said.

Local Bowlers' World Doubles Record Broken

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Dec. 6.—The world's doubles bowling record established last week by a St. Louis pair was broken here last night when a duo made up of George Sabatini and Willie Smith totaled 146 to distance the 1393 figures of Otto Stein Jr. and Roy Nelson of St. Louis set last week.

The total of Sabatini and Smith exceeds by 25 pins the A. B. C. record of C. Thoma and H. Thoma of Chicago. Smith last night had scores of 266, 265 and 213 for a total of 744.

Sothoron to Manage Louisville Next Year, Beck Goes to Buffalo

By the Associated Press.

TORONTO, Dec. 6.—A day of active trading in the baseball market yesterday will result in changes of uniforms for many players next spring. After a deal between Toronto and Detroit was announced by which First Baseman Dale Alexander and Pitcher Paul Prudhomme went to the Tigers for three players and a reported sum of $100,000, the trades began to fall thick and fast about the time of the Convention Hotel.

Toronto will get First Baseman Sweeney from Detroit (and two pitchers whose names have not been announced).

A trade between the Boston Red Sox and St. Paul of the American Association involved five players, the identity of one not being revealed. Bryan (Slim) Harris, one of the tallest pitchers in baseball, and Third Baseman Bill Rogell were sent to the Saints in exchange for Alex Gaston, a catcher, and Russell Scarritt, an outfielder. A catcher will be supplied by the Red Sox later.

The St. Louis Browns sold Pitcher Walter Beck to Buffalo of the International League and the Phillies sent two pitchers and an outfielder to the Pacific Coast League. The pitchers, Augie Walsh and Russell Miller, will get tickets to Los Angeles while Art Jahn goes to Portland.

The Mission club of the Pacific Coast League bought Eddie Mulligan, an infielder, from Pittsburgh. Bernie Neis was bought by the Cincinnati Reds from Seattle, but it was believed that the little outfielder would stop at Columbus, O., the American Association farm of the Reds.

A trade between American Association and International League clubs was completed with difficulty. Indianapolis proposed to give First Baseman Maurice (Dick) Burris and Catcher Paul Florence to Rochester for Catcher Monahan. The Columbus club, however, refused to waive on Florence and not until last night could President Jim Perry prevail on President Joe Carr to let the former Georgetown University catcher pass out of the league.

After Bert Niehoff had been elected by the gallery as the manager of the Louisville club of the American Association, the men who do the hiring and firing for the Colonels stepped in and turned the job over to Alan Sothoron, former coach of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Boston Braves, and a pitcher when he was in his prime as an athlete.

The Little Rock (Southern Association) club bought Pitcher Mulcahy from the Hollywood club of the Pacific Coast League. New Orleans traded Pitcher D. E. Miller to Nashville for Pitcher Oscar Fuhr. Another Southern Association club, Atlanta, bought Pitcher James Elice and Infielder Bill Brier from Buffalo. Brier was with Birmingham last season.

Selma, Ala., in the Southeastern League, purchased the contract of First Baseman Glen Huffman from the Oklahoma City club of the Western League.

Sturdy Goes to Birmingham. Bill Friel, business manager of the Browns, announced today that First Baseman Guy Sturdy had been sent to Birmingham, Ala., of the Southern Association.

St. Louis' goal also was defended by a substitute, Billy Vaughn, taking the place of Iver Anderson. Although four goals were registered by the opposition, none could be directly blamed to a lack of skill on the part of Vaughn. The game being played as it was by the Millers in their first at-home appearance, it would have been a remarkable goal-tender, indeed, to stop the thrusts of the home boys.

The Millers scored first in the opening period when Stanley dribbled the puck through the defense, picked it up inside and shot it under Vaughn's body a split-second before he fell to the ice to save.

Garrett Scores for Millers. In the second session Garrett sent the Millers into two-goal leads when his long, hard shot worked through Vaughn's pads.

Stuart, taking a perfect pass from Stanley, directed the puck out of Vaughn's reach and into the net after eight minutes had elapsed in the third period, and the final marker for Minneapolis was registered soon after when Gordon shot a terrific drive into a corner of the net from 20 feet out.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 6.—With Goals Timmins of Minneapolis playing an inspired game at the nets, St. Louis could not drive the puck through for a single score, and Minneapolis won its opening game of the American Hockey Association season here last night by defeating St. Louis, 6 to 0, before slightly more than 1,000 persons.

To add to St. Louis' misfortune, the fact that Timmins was a substitute, taking the place of Hal Winkler, who is detained in the East by illness. Timmins turned back 20 attempts without a slip.

"Broadway" Meets Disapproval:
"Where Is Censorship?"

By the Associated Press.
ROME, Dec. 5.—The Osservatore Romano, the newspaper through which the Vatican makes its public announcements, has castigated the American play, "Broadway," in a column article. The play is now running in a local theater.

"Why is there not censorship for the legitimate theater as well as for the movies?" asked the newspaper. "Our theater seems to be undergoing a crisis. But should we depend upon America to rush to our aid with its 'Broadways'?"

Turkey now agrees to pay 50 per cent back interest and 4 1/2 per cent interest on the various stocks until they expire. This purchase will make all railroads in Turkey state property.

THREE HELD IN KILLING OF ILLINOIS RECLUSE

Garage Owner Says He Took Two Armed Men to Home of Justus Nungesser.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CARLYLE, Ill., Dec. 6.—Elmer Lindner, of Trenton, Ill., and two other men have been arrested in the investigation of the murder of Justus Nungesser, elderly recluse, who was killed at his home near New Baden Sept. 9.

Authorities announced that Lindner, a garage owner, has said that he drove the two other men to the Nungesser home the morning of the murder, that they were armed with revolvers and that later he heard one say to the other that they had to kill the "old geezer" because he recognized them. According to Lindner, the others had gone to the recluse's home to rob him.

The men he implicated refused to talk.

Investigation of the similar murder of Mrs. Ellen Griffin, 82 years old, at her farm home near Freeburg, Nov. 13, has been renewed on Lindner's assertion that he overheard the two men discussing a suggestion for "bumping off an old woman."

Arrests of the three men were made by Sheriff Joseph Ragen of Carlyle after several weeks of investigation.

ROBBERY AND ASSAULT INDICTMENTS DROPPED

Charges of Holdup and Shooting at Policeman Nolle Pressed Against David Murphy.

Two indictments charging David Murphy, 26 years old, with robbing a cigar store and shooting at a policeman, were nolle prossed today by Assistant Circuit Attorney Leroy who explained the evidence was weak and Murphy would be turned over to Prosecuting Attorney Zeller of St. Louis County, who says he has a strong criminal case against Murphy.

The cigar store at 4478 Easton avenue was robbed May 12 by two men who ran out, one firing at Patrolman Robert Dalton. The bullet struck the policeman's badge. He lost track of the robbers, but later arrested Murphy in the neighborhood. He reported Murphy was out of breath and had been seen to throw a revolver into a yard, where it was recovered.

Murphy denied being one of the robbers. A jury failed to agree on a verdict when he was tried Oct. 11 on a charge of assaulting the policeman with intent to kill.

LABOR OPPOSED TO MAYOR APPOINTING SCHOOL BOARD

State Federation Secretary Says Resolutions Will Be Introduced at January Meeting.

The Missouri State Federation of Labor will oppose all legislation empowering the Mayor of St. Louis to appoint members of the School Board, according to George R. Patterson, secretary of the federation.

Labor is opposed to increasing the appointive powers of the Mayor to include the Board of Education, as has been proposed, on the ground that the board would become part of the Mayor's "political machine," subject to City Hall dictation, Patterson said.

Resolutions voicing the opposition will be introduced at meetings of the executive committees of the State Federation of Labor, the Brotherhoods of Railway Engineers, Conductors and Firemen, and the building crafts at Jefferson City, Jan. 10, according to Patterson.

50,000 GALLONS OF WHISKEY MASH FOUND IN COUNTY RAID

Prohibition agents yesterday raided a large shed near the property at 280 and 282 Lemay Ferry road, owned by Henry P. Sommer, who has signed a large number of bonds in bootleg cases, and found approximately 50,000 gallons of corn sugar mash ready for distillation. A warrant charging Sommer with illegal possession of the whiskey mash, was issued. Samuel Ziegler, one of Sommer's employees found on the premises, was arrested.

The shed is in the rear of the property at 278 Lemay Ferry road, and is said to belong to Sommer. The mash was in vats 7 feet deep and 20 feet in diameter.

Sommer was not at his home at 280 Lemay Ferry road at the time of the raid and the agents ordered him to report at the Federal building.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Flu

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspirin, the two-minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratory, tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk 60c for a bottle of Aspirin and tell him to serve you two teaspoonful With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children, or Aspirin is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal group and children's chok-

Which should she choose?

—this lovely, laughing girl only reveled in the thrill of it! Life was one gay song, until—but you must read this tremendous love drama from real life, complete in January TRUE STORY.

GAY, lovely little coquette! . . . Singing of her playthings at love, David and K. . . . Singing her song of love, with kisses for the high notes—little dreaming that her perfect, pagan beauty could make a saint—or a murderer—of any man.

To David, loving her more than life, she was the one woman. To K she was—one woman. An alluring prize.

But David's love, steady as the sun, she found a little dull. It only cost a kiss to laugh at David.

But K—older, more forceful, fascinating—little by little this man with his intriguing nonchalance laid the grip and thrill of passion on her heart.

And then the sudden crisis in this pent-up drama!

A night she had promised to David—she gave to K! Carrying a traveling bag—David learned that. And he knew K's game, knew his favorite hang-out. A wild chase across the city—a terrible scene in a strange inn—and out of that mortal struggle between love and passion came—but we mustn't spoil this gripping story for you!

Read it all—the true story of this greatest crisis in three human lives—complete in January TRUE STORY. HE'S FULLY CONVINCED NOWSays Miller's Herb Extract Is the Greatest Medicine on the American Market.

"Yes, I'm glad to recommend it, for I think it is the greatest medicine on the American market today for ailing people. I have gotten better and more satisfactory results from your Miller's Herb Extract (formerly called Herb Juice) than any medicine I ever used before. I am more than glad to heartily endorse it and recommend it to my fellow brick masons and everyone who really needs a good laxative and system cleanser," said Geo. C. Rogers, expert bricklayer, 4134A Margaretta avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

Geo. C. Rogers.

Mr. Rogers, who was in poor health for years and lost time from work on account of ill health, told the special representative from the Herb Juice Company's laboratory that no other medicine has ever benefited him like Miller's Herb Extract, commonly known as "Herb Juice." "It gives the desired results," stated Mr. Rogers, "and knowing as I do that it will do all that is claimed for it, I have no hesitancy in telling my friends that it will do the work for them in freeing their systems of all impurities, restoring that old-time feeling of vim and vitality. That's been my happy experience with this good medicine. Before I used a number of bottles, I was in poor health and not able to work full time at my trade. I was troubled with nervous indigestion, chronic constipation, had severe pains in my limbs, back and side caused by my system being contaminated with poison. The rheumatic pains caused me a great deal of suffering. I used quite a number of other medicines, but couldn't find a thing to cleanse my system and put me in a healthy condition. I had a poor appetite, lacked energy for my work. As everyone knows a working man should be in good health to give satisfactory service. But finally I got started using your Herb Extract remedy several months ago after being told that it would help me. And sure thing, it has benefited me beyond all expectations. I was amazed at the quick relief, how it regulated my system and freed me from my aches and pains. In a few weeks' time I felt so much better that I wanted to work every day—and eat! My I can hardly get enough to eat these days. I have regained the lost weight, energy has returned, have a fine appetite, and the good part about it is I have been relieved of every symptom of my old troubles. I feel like a new man. Yes, it will do the work and put me in a healthy condition quicker than any medicine known to me. I am fully convinced that it is a wonderful medicine."

Hundreds call daily to see the Herb Juice Medicine Company's special representative, who has established headquarters at West-Wilson Drug Store, Seventy Washington, to learn more of this great medicine that is bringing health and happiness to so many St. Louis citizens.

METROPOLITAN FOOLED
BY FAKE GREEK STATUENew York Museum Has Piece Done by Dossena, But Never Displayed It.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—One of the sculptural fakes of Alceo Dossena fooled not only the authorities of the Boston and Cleveland museums and the Frick collection here, but even penetrated the barriers of the famous Metropolitan Museum of Art.

In the basement of the Metropolitan today stands a smiling little statue in archaic Greek style, a maiden of the type known as Kore. The figure is about three feet high, draped in a himation, a simple Greek garment, and has the rigidly characteristic of archaic work of about 500 B. C. Her arms are missing and the statue has been broken above the knees and reset so that the breakage is obvious.

The statue, bought for the museum by the late John Marshall, one of the world's most eminent archeologists and largely responsible for the fine classical collection of the Metropolitan, turns out to be another of the works of Dossena, who is reported in recent cables from Italy as admitting the authorship of numerous renaissance and antique art fakes that cost American museums well over $1,000,000.

Piece Not Put on Display.
After the purchase Marshall became suspicious of his find and the museum never placed the work on exhibition or announced its acquisition.

If Marshall was fooled, he was in most eminent company, for the Dossena sculptures deceived not only the most painstaking and scholarly archeologists, but geologists as well. It has been learned that geologists declared the apparent erosion of the fraudulent sculptures was the result of natural processes working over 24 centuries.

Experts still are puzzled as to how Dossena developed the remarkable technique that gives his works the effect of age. Sand blasting has been suggested as the means of getting the effect of erosion, and it is thought that some use of fire was made to give a crackle to the marble. Both European and American geologists have declared that the supposedly Greek statue purchased by the Cleveland museum was aged by time.

Stain Goes Below Surface.
The earth-stained appearance of the sculpture is thought to have been obtained by soaking the marble in a penetrating chemical, since chipping the stone with a hammer shows that the stain goes well below the surface and water does not remove it.

Dossena himself is said to be about 53 years old, a native of Cremona, tall, stoop-shouldered, with the quick nervousness popularly believed to be joined with the artistic temperament, experts here think he must be not only an able sculptor, but a competent archeologist, architect and chemist as well.

Pope Receives U. S. Sailors.
By the Associated Press.
ROME, Dec. 6.—Pope Pius today received seven officers and 50 men attached to the U. S. S. Raleigh at a special audience. He delivered a short address expressing pleasure that they had come to see him and exhorting them to be brave Christians and brave seamen. He then imparted the apostolic benediction.

NO HOMES FOR HOMEMAKERS. If that hypothetical Martian tourist, who is invoked periodically to contemplate this world we live in, And to say what he thinks of its blunders, ironies and tragedies, If he were, at this moment, to be turned over to us as his guide, do you know what preposterous and pitiful earthly absurdity we'd show him? Just this: that in New York there are more than 6000 helpless elderly men and women waiting for one little corner they may call their own in an old-fashioned home.

That the number of women seeking admission to such homes is more than twice that of men, that the largest proportion of these women are listed as "housewives."

In short, that the crowning cruelty of the whole situation is the homelessness of "homemakers."

It is the tragic fact that women can work all their lives to make homes for others, and be left in their old age without even a bed in a wholesome institutional home.

This is the somber story contained in the first report of the Central Information Bureau for the Care of the Aged.

And it seems to us a story to arouse the startled indignation and pity not merely of a visitor from Mars.

But of every woman with a daughter, or sister, or even a young man, who is feeling for her own part.

Whatever her job, nearly every woman has had enough experience in keeping house.

To know what a job THAT is, for the average housewife—The back-breaking laundry and scrubbing.

The picking up of a stove in summer, the chill of winter mornings for the housewife who's the first one up.

The planning and sacrificing needed to make a family comfortable on a small income.

The picking up and putting away for the children and for the man of the house.

Oh, a woman may be glad and willing to make a home for those whom she loves.

But, if she's ever held the usual eight-hour office job, she must admit that it's a physical and mental chin.

Compared to the job of running a one woman home for husband and children.

Now, it has been frequently argued that, while the average home woman handles less money of her own than the women in other vocations.

COMMUNITY HOUSE FOR TOTS GIVES MOTHERS NEEDED REST

By MARGUERITE MARTYN

HERE, mothers, tied by your apron strings to little household tyrants who want let you off for the social or mental diversions that used to keep you in touch with the world outside your own home, or for the shopping and other duties expected of you—here is a means of slipping off your soft little heels and chains and being free for a day.

It is something new in the way of a business enterprise, worthy of comment if for that reason alone.

In existence only a week or so, already a community play room is a well-to-do neighborhood is meeting a response that makes us wonder why nobody had thought of it before.

Day nurseries are provided for the children of mothers who must go out to work. They haven't been thought of for children of the more fortunate classes because, of course, their mothers have nothing to do but sit at home.

But so great have been demands upon resources of entertainment that fittings haven't yet been completed. Wholesome luncheons are prepared and in the rear is a rest room with cots for those young patrons who have the habit of dropping off into the Land of all over the room. There is Lindy's airplane, really a glorified velocipede, and other clever push toys, seesaws and a merry-go-round. Enough and more than enough diversions so that at least there is no excuse for all desires centering upon the same toy at once. And enough space so that a watchful eye can eliminate traffic jams.

Children's Bedtime Story
By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

BUSTER BEAR AT BAY.

Because of those you bring to bay;
They're primed and ready for the fray.

—Buster Bear.

BUSTER BEAR was badly worried. He was growing more worried with every jump. Behind him several dogs were barking on his trail and their voices grew louder and louder. Of course, this meant that they were gaining. Buster was growing more and more tired. He had started that long run on a full stomach. And running on a full stomach is bad for any one. Now he was short of breath, tired and most uncomfortable. What to do he didn't know, so he just kept on running.

Nearer and nearer and nearer sounded the voices of those dogs. They were getting very much excited. Suddenly, one of them burst out of the brush behind Buster and, bounding forward, snapped at Buster's leg. Buster stopped running. He whirled about, so as to face those dogs. He was at bay. That means that he had reached the point where he could no longer run, because if he did those dogs would jump on him from behind. The time had come when he must turn and fight.

Buster Bear forgot now that he was tired and out of breath. He was simply angry. He was very angry indeed. His father small eyes glared red. A dog came within reach. Like a flash one of Buster's great paws shot out and knocked that dog heels over head. How he did yell!

But that was only one dog and there were five others. They were all around him, yelping and barking and making short rushes at him to try to pull him down. Buster got his back to a tree. That prevented any dog from getting directly behind him. It was a big tree. If he should climb it, he would be out of reach of those dogs. He wanted to climb it. Yes, sir, he wanted to climb it. The dogs couldn't follow him there.

"But if those hunters are following," thought Buster, "I don't want to be up in any tree. That is just where they would like to have me. It would make it very easy for them to shoot me with their terrible guns. No, sir, I'm not going to climb that tree."

He whirled about so as to face those dogs.

Persian Women Ask For Greater Liberty

EQUAL rights for Persian women has become the dominant question of public interest, with bewildering suddenness.

Reform projects are said to be ready for presentation at the next session of the Persian parliament. There is evidence that public opinion would welcome a change. Persia, moreover, as the greatest, all-Moslem state, would stimulate the movement toward the emancipation of women in all countries of the orient. The change has gained great momentum in Teheran, where it is no longer an uncommon thing for women to attend theatrical performances and enter cafes.

Why Suffer From Colds?

Science Has Found a New and Quick Relief for Head Colds, Catarrh, Sinus Troubles and Other Nasal Ills.

Severe head colds, the kind that "hang on," are no longer necessary. They can be quickly stopped or prevented altogether. Use Si-Nok twice daily—see how this new scientific preparation keeps your head clear—how it stops nasal discharges and irritations. In these days of smoke and smog, of stuffy, overheated homes, offices and stores, Si-Nok is an everyday necessity. Don't wait for a cold to attack you—start using Si-Nok today and keep yourself free from colds. Use Si-Nok Jr. (milder strength) for children. At Walgreen's, Wolff-Wilson's and other good druggists. Mack: We feed 'em cats.

Moran: What do you feed them mice?

Mack: We feed 'em mice.

Moran: What do you feed them insects?

Mack: We feed 'em insects.

Moran: Well, what's them insects going to live on?

Mack: They're going to live on the foxes, the foxes live on the cats, the cats live on the mice and vice versa.

Moran: Did I start all that with five dollars?

Mack: Yes sir, Archibald, everything lives on something else and vice versa.

Moran: I think you're livin' on me but I'm afraid it ain't vice versa.

Mack: Now, Egbert, I'm th' brains of this concern and you're th' man-power. Keep cool, don't jump your wave-length and you will soon have so much money it will keep you broke paying th' income tax.

WIFE STABS MAN TO DEATH IN FIGHT AT RESTAURANT

William Korte Hit at Her With Chair and Knife, She Says in Confession to Police.

Printing Foreman Dies Refusing to Name Assailant—2200 Pine Street Scene of Killing.

Steadfast to the last in his refusal to name his assailant, William Korte, 38-year-old printing foreman, died at City Hospital early today of stab wounds inflicted, as subsequent developments showed, by his wife, Julia, in a quarrel at a restaurant at 2200 Pine street.

Weeping hysterically, Mrs. Korte surrendered to Police Captain Nally at the Carr Street Station at 9 a. m. and to him made a written confession, in which she said she had stabbed her husband after he had attempted to strike her with a chair and had slashed at her with a knife.

Mrs. Korte, a neatly dressed woman, whose black bobbed hair is only faintly sprinkled with gray, is 38 years old, and resides at 5162 A. Easton avenue, where her husband lived with her.

Text of Her Confession.

The text of her written confession follows:

"My husband and myself have been having trouble for the last 15 years and on many occasions he has beat me. He left our home Monday morning and did not return again until 12:30 a. m. yesterday. At that time he had an axe on his feet and we had an argument which lasted a long time and he left the house again at 10:30 a. m. and did not come home again yesterday.

"About 5 o'clock last evening I went to a restaurant at the southwest corner of Twenty-second and Pine, where I knew that my husband would come. I was eating supper when he came in the door and saw me and wanted to know what I was doing there.

"He became angry and picked up a chair and attempted to strike me. I picked up a butcher knife from the counter and he dropped the chair and also picked up a butcher knife from the counter and started after me and slashed at me, cutting my coat.

"During the scuffle we went to the sidewalk. I cut him but I do not remember if I cut him in the restaurant or while on the sidewalk.

"I went to the restaurant about 5 o'clock and waited until he came in, about two hours. He came in once and saw me and left and returned later.

"He had a knife in his hand and cut at me before I cut him. After the cutting he fell to the sidewalk and later was taken away. I left there and went to the home of my son, John Slueter, at 803 North Fifteenth street. I did the cutting to protect myself.

Korte was found on the sidewalk in front of the restaurant at 7 o'clock last night by Chester, 8-year-old son of Frank Lesniak, proprietor of the establishment. He was bleeding from wounds in the back, abdomen and right leg, but conscious.

"I Don't Know Who Did It." Police officers who questioned him on the way to city hospital reported that he refused to discuss the origin of his injuries. When he was asked for information at the hospital he repeatedly answered: "I don't know who stabbed me."

Mrs. Korte was escorted to the police station by Slueter, a son of a former marriage. In the front of her red, fur-trimmed coat there was a slash about six inches long which she declared had been made by the knife wielded by her husband.

Korte was employed as foreman at the Missouri Agricultural Publishing Co., publisher of the Missouri Ruralist, whose plant at 2206 Pine street, is just west of the Lesniak restaurant. He was a steady customer of the restaurant. Mrs. Korte said in explaining why she had looked for him there.

So far the police have been unable to find anyone who will admit having seen the struggle between Korte and his wife. Lesniak and a woman who lives on Pine street near the restaurant have been summoned as inquest witnesses.
